STATE COLLEGE HOPES $800,000 BILL STANDS

IS LARGEST INCREASE

Appropriation by Legislature is Largest in History of Institution—Makes Provision for Maintenance in Next Two Years.

State College has secured from the Legislature an appopriation of $800,000 for maintenance during the next two years, an increase of $260,000 over the appropriation of 1909. President Sparks and other officials at the college are confident that the amount appropriated will not be cut down by Governor Tener, who has on several occasions manifested a deep interest in the welfare of the institution. It might be said that the appropriation by the Legislature of 1911 is not only the largest total but the largest increase in the history of the college.

Owing to the fact that one-fourth the sum goes to pay an old deficit which the college has been carrying many years, no money will be available for adequate building. But the discharge of the deficit will put the college on a better financial basis, will give it a better reputation, and will save the interest paid annually on the debt. However, the bill is drawn so that a section of a building can be built if the maintenance can be taken care of.

It is the general opinion at Harrisburg that the college is gaining every day in strength and in the good will of the people of the state. No opposition is manifested and the size of the appropriation is limited only by the many demands upon the State Treasury and the failure to pass any additional tax-raising measures. The size of the appropriation this year should set at rest any fears about the future of the college which would cause the people of the borough and county to show more faith in the permanency of the institution.

The bill as originally introduced followed the itemized form used for many years in providing for each school. For some reason as yet unrevealed the Appropriation Committees changed the bill so as to give all the increase to Agriculture, leaving the rest of the college only as much as it had two years ago. The item for beginning the construction of a sewer system will afford a needed relief to present conditions on the campus.

"BOYS IN BLUE"

Decorated Graves of Comrades Here and Elsewhere on Memorial Day.

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in Bellefonte and throughout the county. Numerous business places and homes were decorated with flags and in the afternoon Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., followed its annual custom of marching to the Union cemetery and decorating the graves of comrades who have answered the last roll call. In the line of march with the old veterans were a squad of Co. L., N. G. P., and the Undine and Logan fire companies and the City band.

Returning from the cemetery brief services were held in the Court House, the orator of the day being Rev. Dr. Ezra H. Yocum, pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist Episcopal church. His address was a beautiful tribute to partriotism and commanded the close attention of all present.

A pretty compliment to the old soldiers was an informal reception in their honor by the Bellefonte lodge of Elks, from four to six o'clock. The clubhouse, formerly the home of Governor Curtin and also Governor Beaver, was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the visitors were accorded a hearty welcome. After brief addresses by Judge Orvis and General Beaver the visitors were escorted through the clubhouse. A buffet luncheon was served and everything possible done to make the time pass pleasantly. The soldiers were loud in their praise of the Elks for the little event planned in their honor.

Tried to Rob Katz & Co. Store.

Thieves on Thursday night of last week attempted to break into the store of Katz & Co., on Allegheny Street, supposedly being after a large amount of cash in the safe and also some rare and valuable laces and linens which have been attracting considerable attention among shoppers. Just when the thieves had drawn the bolts at the shutters on the windows in the rear of the store they were frightened off. Had the thieves not been disturbed for a few minutes longer they undoubtedly would have made a rich haul.

SAW MILL BURNED

Lumber Camp of Huyett & McNitt, at Waddle, Has Disastrous Blaze.

A disastrous fire swept over the big Huyett & McNitt lumber camp, at Waddle, early Monday morning, completely destroying the saw, lathe and stave mills of that well known firm. The loss was between $10,000 and $12,000, with $5,000 insurance. From $15,000 to $18,000 worth of sawed lumber in the yards nearby was saved, as were also a number of loaded and partly loaded cars of the Bellefonte Central Railroad Company.

Announcement was promptly made by Huyett and McNitt that the work of rebuilding the mills would be taken up at once and that it would be completed in time for the whistle to blow on the Fourth of July. This will be good news to the large number of men employed on the lumber job. In order to take the best possible care of the men in their employ, the firm have arranged immediate employment for those who do not own their homes.

The exact origin of the fire is unknown. By some it was believed that the blaze was caused by an exploding lantern, but this is not accepted by Huyett & McNitt. It is their belief that a stray spark, possibly from a passing engine, lay hidden in the mills and finally burned itself into a blaze that was not discovered until about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. There was little or no water service at the command of those anxious to help fight the flames and the blaze in the mills spread so rapidly that all efforts were devoted to saving the lumber stored in the yard. General Manager F. H. Thomas, of the Bellefonte Central Railroad, in response to a telephone message from John A. Hov, sent an engine from Bellefonte to the scene of the fire and a number of cars were hauled to places of safety.

BUYS HOWARD MILL

Balser Weber Purchases Plant; Will Operate Tool Factory.

The Howard rolling mill, tool factory and the valuable water power which is a part of the plant, was last week purchased by Balser Weber, of Howard, from the Murray estate. While the figures in the transaction have not been revealed, it is said that the purchase price was upward of $15,000.

A rumor that negotiations were under way for the purchase of the property was published in "The Republican" several weeks ago. At that time it was said that the prospective purchasers were Pittsburg business men. Last week the property was sold but it then developed that the purchaser was Mr. Weber, one of the best known residents of Howard.

In addition to the rolling mill and water power the plant includes 15 acres of land. The tool factory is in splendid repair and it is understood that in the near future this part of the plant will be put into operation by Mr. Weber, giving employment to probably 25 or 30 men. One-piece garden rakes and other novelties will be manufactured.

Years ago the Howard rolling mill was one of the best known industries in Centre County. It is not likely that the rolling mill will be put into operation while the iron market is in its present unsatisfactory condition and even then not until modern equipment is installed. As a manufacturing site the property is regarded as one of the most desirable in this section of the state.

Nineteen patients in the hospital.

Miss Ella Garman, Fillmore, entered training school for nurses.

COMPLETE RESUME OF NEW SCHOOL CODE GOVERNING SCHOOLS OF CENTRE COUNTY

Last week "The Republican" published an article showing how the new school code applies to the State at large. More recently we secured a copy of the school code and this week we publish an extended article showing how the new law affects the public schools in Centre County. School directors, teachers, parents and all others interested in the public schools may thoroughly inform themselves regarding the new school code by carefully reading and preserving the articles in "The Republican" last week and also this week. The following deals entirely with the new law and its application to the public schools of this county:

All school taxes shall be levied and assessed by the board of school directors therein during the month of April or May each year for the ensuing fiscal year and shall not exceed twenty-five mills on the dollar on the total amount of the assessed valuation of all property taxable for school purposes therein. Provided that each school district shall also collect the occupation tax on each male resident or inhabitant of such district over twenty-one years of age as herein provided.

In order to enable the board of school directors to assess and levy the necessary shool taxes required by such district each year the county commissioners in each county shall on or before the first day of April in each year at the expense of the county furnish to each school district of the third or fourth class therein for its use to be retained by it a properly certified duplicate of the last adjusted valuation of all real estate, personal property and occupations made taxable for county purposes in such school district stating the name of each taxable and the valuation, description and kind of property or occupation assessed, all of which real estate personal property and occupations are hereby made taxable for school purposes in each school district.

Each male resident or inhabitant over twenty-one years of age shall annually in addition to any tax he may pay on any real estate or other property pay for the use of the school district in which he is a resident or inhabitant an occupation tax of at least one dollar. In order that the board of school directors may assess, levy and collect an occupation tax of not less than one dollar on each male resident or inhabitant over twenty-one years of age in the district it shall be the duty of the proper assessors in each such school district of this Commonwealth to assess every male resident or inhabitant in such school district over twenty-one years of age with an occupation at such amount as shall be proper and retnrn the same with the other taxable property in the district as provided by law. In each school district all such assessments of occupation shall be included and certified in the list of taxable property to be certified to the board of school directors in each such school district as herein provided.

In case the occupation of any resident or inhabitant of any school district whose name appears upon any tax duplicate therein is assessed at such an amount that the school tax therein at the rate fixed by the board of school directors in levying school taxes in that year is less than one dollar such resident or inhabitant shall pay a school tax amounting to the sum of one dollar on his occupation notwithstanding the amount of his occupation assessment.

The board of school directors may at the expense of the district advertise once a week for not longer than three weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the school district the names of all persons who have been exonerated by said board from the payment of their school taxes.

As soon as the school tax is assessed and levied by the board of school directors the secretary shall compute and enter the same, stating the amount of school tax to be collected on the duplicate herein required to be furnished to the district, a certifiel copy of which shall then be furnished by the board of school directors to the tax collector in each district. In any school district where the collector of school taxes is also collector of county taxes the secretary of the board of school directors may compute and add the amount of the school taxes to the duplicate furnished by the county commissioners to such tax collector for county purposes. In all school districts of the second third or fourth class all tax duplicates shall be furnished as herein provided to the tax collector on or before the first Monday of July each year.

Where a tax collector is not elected to collect school taxes or where there is a vacancy or where any tax collector elected refuses to qualify or furnish a bond as herein provided the board of school directors shall annually on or before the first day of June in each year appoint one or more suitable persons as tax collectors in said school district. Provided that the board of school directors in any school district appointing any tax collector or tax collectors may authorize and direct any one tax collector to collect the school taxes in any one or more wards or other proper divisions in such school district.

The tax collector elected or appointed may deputize in writing one or more suitable deputy tax collectors who when so deputized shall be authorized to collect the school taxes in like manner and with like authority as the tax collector appointing them. Provided that any tax collector appointing any deputy collector shall be responsible for and account to the board of school directors for all taxes collected by said deputy.

Each collector of school taxes shall on or before the first Monday of July in each year be furnished with his tax duplicate and a proper warrant signed by the president and attested by the secretary of the board of school directors with the corporate seal of said district if any attached authorizing and directing him to collect the school taxes set forth in his duplicate according to law.

Every person appointed or elected collector of school taxes in addition to any bonds that he may now be required by law to give and before receiving his tax duplicate and warrant to collect said school taxes shall furnish to the school district a proper bond in an amount to be fixed by the board of school directors with such surety or surities as it may approve conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties as such tax collector. In case any person elected or appointed tax collector shall fail to furnish a proper bond within fifteen days after his appointment or notice so to do then in any such case the board of school directors shall appoint another suitable person as collector of the school taxes in said district in his place and stead who on giving the proper bond required by the provisions of this Act shall be the duly authorized person to collect the school taxes in said district for the ensuing school year.

Every school tax collector shall within thirty days after receiving his tax duplicate properly notify by mail or otherwise through a printed or written notice every taxable on his duplicate, such notice to contain the rate of taxation, the valuation of property and occupation assessed and the amount of school taxes for the current year and that the same are due and payable and requesting payment thereof. Such notice shall also designate a definite place in said district and a stated time or times where and when the same may be paid. Provided that the expenses of postage and printing of such tax notices shall be paid by the district.

Every tax collector appointed by the board of school directors as herein provided shall in addition to the authority hereby given him have the same power and authority to collect the school taxes therein as is or may be given by law to any tax collector.

Every collector of school taxes shall make a written report to the secretary of the board of school directors at the end of every month of the amount of taxes collected by him during the said month, furnishing the names of the taxables from whom the same has been collected. Such tax collector shall at the end of each month pay the full amount of school taxes collected during the month to the school treasurer of the district and exhibit to the secretary to be countersigned by him at the time of making such report the receipt of the school treasurer showing that such amount of taxes as reported has been paid to the school treasurer.

All school tax collectors shall be paid such commissions or compensation as may be determined by the boards of school directors, such commissions or compensation to be paid by proper orders drawn on the school treasurer as other accounts are paid by any school district. The total cost of such collection in each district shall be reported annually to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and shall be published in his report.

In case the collector of school taxes in any school district or any deputy thereof shall at any time find within the district in which he is collector of school taxes or deputy thereof any male resident or inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years whose name does not appear upon the duplicate of the district he shall report the name of such person forthwith to the proper assessor or assessors in said school district.

Where the name of any inhabitant or resident in any school district has been

RARE OLD RELIC

F. Potts Green, the druggist, several days ago received a letter bringing to his notice the whereabouts of a rare old relic which at one time was in the possession of the well known Harris family, of Lewisburg, with whom Mrs. Green, before her marriage, made her home. The relic in question is a spinist, or harpsichord, and now is in the possession of N. B. Meixell, of Lewisburg, who wrote to Mr. Green asking his assistance in securing historical data in regard to the instrument.

According to Meixell's letter to Mr. Green the spinist which has passed into his hands is nearly two hundred years old and is, in his judgment, even older than the harpsichord given to Martha Washington before her marriage and which now is in the national home, at Mt. Vernon. Mr. Meixell enclosed with his letter a card showing a picture of the spinist. The spinist is built with a walnut case, wood keys, tapered legs and three drawers. It resembles to some extent the flat, square piano of later days with the exception that the keyboard does not extend more than perhaps two-thirds along the front of the instrument. There is a cover, or lid, attached by hinges along one side and covering the entire top of the instrument. The dimensions of the spinist are given as 23x32x61.

Mr. Green, telling about the rare, old relic, explained that he was able to recall it and that it originally was purchased for Miss Sarah Harris, an older sister of Miss Martha Harris, and who was born September 4, 1779, and died December 30, 1827. Martha Harris, who raised Mrs. Green, was born August 13, 1784, and died in February, 1873. Mr. Green was under the impression that his brother-in-law, William Laird Harris, had used a part of the sounding board out of the spinist in making a new top for a violin.

This was back in 1853. The violin is a Stradivarius and is still in first class condition and in the possession of Mr. Green. Not a great while ago a visitor to the Green home, in Bellefonte, examined the violin and offered $100 for it, which was refused.

A True Snake Story.

County Treasurer George G. Fink and David J. Gingery, of Martha, the latter a Democratic aspirant for nomination for Sheriff, were out in the Alleghenies, near Yocum's dam, on Sunday, last, when they came across a three-foot rattle snake. Fink is a noted snake fighter, but Gingery avows that if a snake were behind him about election time he could run away ahead of his ticket. There being but one warrior in the crowd when the rattler was encountered, it was up to Fink to do all the fighting. Perched on the limb of a nearby tree, Gingery was content to assume the role of a spectator. When first discovered the snake was coiled up and was so black that it resembled a large, dark-colored stone. Being an old hand at the game, however, Fink was not easily fooled and it took him no time at all to realize that the object was a snake and also that it was very much alive. While Fink was planning his attack Gingery was shinning it up a tree. When all was ready, Fink let out a Custer-charge whoop and rushed in upon the snake. The rattler lost its nerve in the first round and started to run. Fink hurled a stone at the fleeing reptile, his aim was good and the rattler, wounded, came to a sudden stop. The injury to the snake aroused all its fighting spirit and coiling up it raised its head ready to strike at the first opportunity. Appreciating that Gingery would remain in the tree, until the next campaign was over if necessary, Fink secured a club and quickly killed the rattler. When quite sure that the snake was dead, Gingery crawled down the tree and proudly participated in measuring the snake and also in describing how "they" had killed it. The rattler measured about three feet and had thirteen rattles.

P. S. Fink says that the snake was seen in daylight.

Fire at Penna. Furnace.

The home of George Irvin, on the William Irvin farm, near Penna. Furnace, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, last. Several persons narrowly escaped being suffocated by smoke while aiding in removing the household goods from the burning building. Charles Collobine and John Reynolds, of Graysville, and Daniel Irvin, of Penna. Furnace, were overcome by smoke and had to be carried from the house. They were soon revived. The furniture and a few of the household effects were saved from the flames, but the house was burned to the ground.

G. WM. WOLFE KILLED AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Well Known Resident of Fiedler Meets Tragic Death Sunday.

CAR BACKED OVER HILL

Was Driving Through Sugar Valley Near Greenburr, When Car Became Unmanageable—Several other Occupants Escaped Injury.

G. William Wolfe, aged 62 years and a well known resident of Fiedler, was almost instantly killed in an automobile accident, near Greenburr, on Sunday day afternoon, last. While returning through Sugar Valley with a party of friends from a pleasure trip to Howard, the engine of his automobile developed a defect, Mr. Wolfe, who was driving, lost control of the car and it backed over a small hill and then over a bridge, where it turned turtle. Mr. Wolfe was pinioned underneath the automobile and his skull crushed, dying almost instantly.

The remarkable part about the accident was that although there were seven persons in the automobile and all but one were caught under the car, Mr. Wolfe was the only one to suffer serious injury. A daughter, Mrs. Edward Glantz, was injured, but not seriously. The news of the death of Mr. Wolfe was a shock to a host of friends. His body was removed to his home on Monday afternoon. Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning, at Woodward.

As is not infrequently the case in automobile accidents, the mishap to Mr. Wolfe's car came when it was least expected. In the party were Mr. Wolfe, his daughter, Mrs. Glantz, and her husband and three children and Miss Helen VonGondon. They enjoyed a delightful run to Howard, where the day was spent with friends. The return trip was begun in the afternoon and was without incident until a small hill, near Greenburr, was encountered. At that point the engine of the car went wrong and the big car started to back down the hill. It all happened so quickly that the occupants of the car did not have time to jump. In an instant the automobile backed to the foot of the short hill and then across a bridge, toppling over the side and turning completely upside down. All but Mr. Glantz were caught under the car, but with the exception of Mr. Wolfe and his daughter, Mrs. Glantz, escaped injury.

MISS ATHERTON WEDS

Becomes Bride of State College Professor at Quite Wedding Here.

A surprise to a host of friends was the discovery after it was all over that Miss Helen Hoytt Attherton, daughter of the late George W. Atherton, for years president of State College, and Professor Charles Emory Govier, an instructor at that institutition, had been quietly married here last week. The wedding ceremony was performed in Bellefonte on Friday night, Rev. John Hewitt, of the Bellefonte St. John's Episcopal church, officiating. There were no attendants.

Formal announcement was made some time ago of the engagement of Miss Atherton and Professor Govier, but no time was fixed for the wedding. It was not until after the wedding, in fact, that the news leaked out. Professor and Mrs. Govier returned to State College that night, planning keeping the wedding a secret until the close of the college term and then taking an extended honeymoon. It was quite by accident that the news leaked out. Somebody happened to notice Professor Govier leaving the Court House and suspecting his mission examined the marriage license docket. Later the fact that they had been married was confirmed. Professor and Mrs. Govier will reside at State College.

Death at State College.

Mrs. Malinda Rishel died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clara Zerbe, at State College, on Thursday, May 25, aged 80 years, 7 months and 25 days. Deceased was a consistent member of the Reformed church and was held in affectionate esteem by a large number of friends. Surviving are four sons, Ira Rishel, of Boalsburg; Oscar and Jasper, of Oak Hall, and William, of Lemont. Two daughters also survive, Mrs. Alma Miller, of Pine Grove Mills, and Mrs. Zerbe, at State College. Funeral services were held from the Reformed church, at Boalsburg, conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover. Interment was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

B. H. S. Dance June 6.

The annual reception and dance, given by the Bellefonte High School alumni to the graduating class, will be held in the Armory on Tuesday night, June 6.

NEW SCHOOL CODE.

thus furnished to the proper assessor or assessors then in any such case when the school taxes are levied upon the city assessment the city assessors or when the school taxes are levied upon the county assessment the proper assessors shall forthwith assess such inhabitant or resident so reported with an occupation in a proper amount and shall promptly certify the same to the city clerk or other proper official or to the county commissioners as the case may be who shall then promptly certify such name together with his occupation to the secretary of the board of school directors of the school district in which such party so assessed resides, whereupon the said secretary shall add the name and assessment of such person to the duplicate of the collector of school taxes in such district and the proper tax collector shall thereupon proceed to collect the tax assessed against such person as herein provided. In no event however shall less than one dollar be collected from each such person.

In case any male resident or inhabitant of any school district neglects or refuses to pay his occupation tax as herein provided after having 'received ten days' notice or demand so to do the collector of such school taxes shall notify any firm association or corporation where such delinquent tax-payer is employed that such tax-payer has failed or neglected to pay his occupation tax as required and such collectors of school taxes may thereupon request the payment of such occupation tax by such employer out of any money then due and owing or thereafter to become due and owing to such delinquent tax-payer, whereupon every person firm association or corporation employing any such delinquent tax-payer may deduct from any wages that are then or may thereafter become due and owing to him the amount of such delinquent occupation tax and pay the same over to such collector of school taxes and the proper receipt for such taxes paid to the tax collector by any employer shall be a good and sufficient voucher to offset any claim that such delinquent tax-payer may have against such employer for any wages to the amount thereof.

If any person, firm, association or corporation receiving a notice from any school tax collector requesting the payment of any occupation tax of any employee or employees deducts from any wages then due or that may thereafter become due and owing to such employee or employees the amount of such occupation tax and fails to pay the same over to the collector of school taxes in any district within thirty days after making such deduction or deductions such person, firm or corporation shall forfeit and pay to the said school district a sum equal to the amount of such occupation tax collected from such employee or employees as aforesaid which sum together with costs may be recovered by the said school district in an action of assumpsit against said person firm association or corporation failing to pay over such tax as debts of like amount are now recoverable. In the collection of any judgment recovered for any such delinquent occupation tax against any person firm, association or corporation the defendant therein shall not be entitled to the benefit of any exemption appraisement law or stay of execution.

Every collector of school taxes shall proceed to collect the taxes set forth in the duplicates furnished to him and pay the same over at least once every month as hereinbefore required and every such collector of school taxes shall fully account for and pay over to the treasurer of the school district in which he is appointed or elected the total amount of school taxes appearing upon the tax duplicate furnished to him on or before the first day of June in each year, less such amount as he may be exonerated from by the board of school directors and also less such an amount of unpaid taxes as is assessed and levied upon real property in said school district upon which there is no personal property out of which such school taxes might have been or could have been collected.

No tax collector shall be re-appointed or be authorized to collect any school taxes in any school year unless he shall first have settled his duplicate in full with the board of school directors for the preceding year in the manner herein provided.

To all school taxes assessed and levied in all school districts which are not paid on or before the first day of October in the year in which they are assessed and levied there shall be added a penalty of five per centum which shall be collected at the same time as and in addition to the school taxes of which it is made a part. No discounts or rebates shall be allowed on the payment of any school taxes assessed and levied in any school district of the second third or fourth class.

All unpaid school taxes assessed and levied upon real property upon which is no personal property out of which the same can be collected shall be certified by the tax collector to the secretary of the board of school directors together with a proper description of the property upon which the same is levied on or before the first day of June each year. All delinquent school taxes so certified to the board of school directors in any school district of the second third or fourth class by any school tax collector shall be collected by said board as provided by law.

The board of school directors may annually at or before the time of levying the annual school taxes prepare an approximate estimate of the amount of funds that will be required by the school district in its several departments for the following fiscal year. Such annual estimate shall be apportioned to the several classes of expenditures of the district as the board of school directors thereof may determine. The total amount of such estimate shall not exceed the amount of funds including the proposed annual tax levy and state appropriation available for school purposes in that district.

Each school order may state on its face the particular item of the annual school estimate upon which the same is drawn.

The tax duplicate to be certified by the county commissioners, the city clerk or other proper official shall in each proper district include such territory as is attached to another district but by the provisions of this act becomes a part of the district in which it is situated on the first Monday of July, 1911.

In case any tax collector shall convert to his own use in any way whatever or shall use by way of investment any portion of the school funds collected by him or shall prove to be a defaulter or shall fail to pay the proper school treasurer at such times as are specified in this act then every such act shall be deemed and adjudged to be an embezzlement of so much of said money as shall thus be taken converted invested collected and not paid over as specified by this act and which is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and every such tax collector and every person aiding or abetting or being in any way accessory to said acts or any of them and being duly convicted thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine for the use of the school district of not less than twenty-five dollars or more than one thousand dollars or be sentenced to imprisonment for not less than thirty days or more than five years either or both at the discretion of the court. Any such person so convicted shall forfeit his office.

School Buildings.

No public school buildings shall be contracted for, constructed or reconstructed until their plans and specifications have been submitted to the State Board of Education and any recommendations concerning the same by the State Board of Education have been laid before the board of school directors. Provided when any school building is being constructed or remodeled at the time of the approval of this Act or when a contract has been awarded for the construction or remodeling of any school building such building may be constructed or remodeled without being subject to the provisions of this section.

The State Board of Education shall cause to be prepared and shall at the expense of the Commonwealth publish and upon application furnish without charge to boards of school directors plans and specifications of different kinds of school buildings suited to the needs of the public schools. Provided that school buildings may be built according to plans and specifications thus furnished without submitting the same to the State Board of Education.

Every contract in excess of three hundred dollars ($300.00) made by any school district for the introduction of heating ventilating or lighting systems or the construction, reconstruction or repair of any school building or work upon any school property shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder after due public notice has been given upon proper terms asking for competitive bids.

All school buildings hereafter built or rebuilt shall comply with the following conditions:

In every school room the total area must equal at least twenty per centum of the floor space and the light shall not be admitted thereto from the front of seated pupils.

Every school room shall have not less than fifteen square feet of floor space and not less than two hundred cubic feet of air space per pupil.

No board of school directors shall use a common heating stove for the purpose of heating any school room unless such stove is in part enclosed within a shield or jacket made of galvanized iron or other suitable material and of efficient height and so placed as to protect all pupils while seated at their desks from direct rays of heat.

No school room or recitation room shall be used in any public school which is not provided with ample means of ventilation and whose windows when they are the only means of ventilation shall not admit of ready adjustment both at the top and bottom and which does not have some device to protect pupils from currents of cold air. Every school room or recitation room shall be furnished with a thermometer.

Every school building hereafter erected or reconstructed whose cost shall exceed four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) or which is more than one story high shall be so heated and ventilated that each school room and recitation room shall be supplied with fresh air at the rate of not less than thirty cubic feet per minute for each pupil and which air may be heated to an average temperature of seventy degrees Fahrenheit during zero weather.

All school buildings two or more stories high hereafter built or leased for school purposes shall be of fireproof construction.

All doors of entrance into any building more than one story high used for a public school building shall be made to open outward and the board of school directors of every district shall before the opening of the school term next following the approval of this Act change the entrance doors of every such school building so that they shall all open outward.

In all school buildings more than one story high hereafter erected all entrance doors as well as all doors from class rooms, school rooms, cloak rooms or other rooms into halls shall open outward.

Every school building shall be provided with necessary fire escapes and safety appliances as required by law.

The board of school directors in each school district shall put the grounds about every school building in a neat, proper and sanitary condition and so maintain the same and shall provide and maintain a proper number of shade trees.

The board of school directors of any district may permit the use of its school grounds and buildings for social recreation and other proper purposes under such rules and regulations as the board may adopt and shall make such arrangements with any city, borough or township authorities for the improvement, care, protection and maintenance of school buildings and grounds for school, park, play or other recreation purposes as it may see proper and any board of school directors may make such arrangements as it may see proper with any association or individual for the temporary use of school property for schools, play grounds, social recreation or other proper educational purposes.

If any person shall willfully or maliciously break into enter, deface, or write mark or place any obscene or improper matter upon any public school building or other building used for school purposes or other purposes provided for in this Act or any outhouse used in connection therewith or shall deface, injury, damage or destroy any school furniture, books, paper, maps, charts, apparatus, or other property contained in any public school building or other building used and occupied for school purposes or other purposes provided for in this Act or shall injure, damage or destroy any shade trees shrubbery, fences or any other property of any kind upon any public school play ground such person be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) and not more than two hundred dollars ($200.00) or undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six months either or both at the discretion of the Court.

The board of school directors in each district shall when they are not otherwise provided purchase a United States flag flagstaff and the necessary appliances therefor and shall display said flag upon or near each public school building in clement weather during school hours and at such other times as the said board may determine.

The board of school directors in any school district may in the manner herein provided enter into any contract with any person, firm, association or corporation for the furnishing of light, heat or water to such school district for any term not exceeding five years. The amount to become due and payable thereon under such contract may be distributed equally during the years over which the same extends and only so much thereof as becomes due and payable in any one year need be provided for in the annual estimate of school expenses for any school year and be certified to by any school controller.

All school property owned by any school district real and personal that is occupied and used by any school district for public school recreation or any other purposes provided for by this Act shall be and hereby is made exempt from every kind of state, county, city, borough township or other tax as well as from all costs or expense for paving, curbing, sidewalks, sewers or other municipal improvements. Provided that any school district may make any municiple improvement in any street on which its school property abuts or may contribute any sum towards the cost thereof.

The board of school directors in every district shall with every building used for school purposes provide and maintain in a proper manner a suitable number of waterclosets or outhouses not less than two for each building where both sexes are in attendance. Such waterclosets or outhouses shall be suitably constructed for and used separately by the sexes. When any waterclosets or outhouses are outside and detached from the school building the entrances thereto shall be properly screened and they shall unless constructed at a remote distance from each other have separate means of access thereto and if possible for not less than twenty-five feet from such waterclosets or outhouses such means of access or walks leading thereto shall be separated by a closed partition wall or fence not less than seven feet high.

The board of school directors shall keep all waterclosets or outhouses used in connection with any school building in a clean and sanitary condition and shall not less than ten days prior to the openings of any term of school and oftener if necessary have them properly cleaned and disinfected by the use of fresh dry slaked lime or other proper disinfecting.

The board of school directors in every school district shall have full power and authority to make and enter into any contracts it may deem proper with any person firm or corporation for the purpose of insuring against loss or damage by fire or otherwise any or all of the school buildings or other property of the school district.

Books and Supplies.

The boards of school directors of each school district shall purchase all necessary furniture, equipment, text-books, school supplies and other appliances for use of the public schools or any department thereof in their respective districts and furnish the same free of cost for use in the schools in said districts subject to such rules and regulations regarding the use and safe-keeping thereof as the boards of school directors may adopt. All furniture equipment books school supplies and other appliances purchased by the board of school directors of any school district in this Commonwealth for the use of the public schools therein shall be purchased in the manner provided in this Act.

Text-books adopted under the provisions of this Act by any school district of the second third or fourth class shall be adopted by the board of school directors at any regular meeting between the first day of April and the first day of August following. Such books so adopted shall be provided for the use of the schools at the beginning of the school term next following.

Provided that if in said school districts there shall be a district superintendent or supervising principal such district superintendent or supervising principal shall report in which subjects new text-books are needed and after consultation with the teachers under his supervision what text-books should be adopted or changed and unless by a two-thirds vote of the board an adoption or change of text-books shall not be made without his recommendation. Provided further that books supplementary to text books regularly adopted may be adopted and purchased for use in the schools at any time, such supplementary books to be adopted in the same manner as text books are herein required to be adopted.

The board of school directors in any district may allow any pupil in such district the use of school books during vacations under such rules and regulations as it may adopt.

The provisions of this Act relating to the purchase of school books and supplies by the board of school directors in any school district shall not take effect until the first Monday of January, 1912. School supplies shall be divided into two classes. The first class shall include school desks, chairs, typewriter and school apparatus. The second class shall include maps, globes and all other supplies except text books necessary for school use not included in the first class.

When it is deemed necessary to purchase desks of other supplies of the first class costing one hundred dollars ($100) or more the board of school directors shall solicit sealed quotations from two or more firms manufacturers or dealers in such supplies and at a regular meeting shall open such bids and quotations and shall accept the lowest bid when the kinds of supplies offered and their kind quality and character of material are the same or are equal or satisfactory. Provided that any school district may purchase school furniture and other equipment from another district without asking for competitive bids.

All supplies of the second class costing three hundred dollars or more shall be awarded and purchased only after public notice has been given by advertisement published once each week for three weeks in not less than two newspapers of general circulation. Provided that in any district where no newspaper is published said notice may in lieu of such publication be posted in at least five public places Such advertisement or notice of convenient access thereto in such manner that bidders can intelligently make bids for such contracts.

The board of school directors shall accept the lowest bid or bids kind quality and material being equal but shall have the right to reject any and all bids or select a single item from any bid.

No person shall act as agent for school books or school supplies in any district in which he is engaged or employed as a superintendent, teacher or employee of the school district in any capacity or in which he was thus employed during the preceding school year.

Every person, firm, association or corporation that shall directly or indirectly individually or through an agent or representative give or promise to give to any school director, officer of any school board, superintendent, teacher or any other person any sum of money or other valuable thing or shall make any promise of any appointment or position in order to secure, procure or influence the recommendation adoption, rejection, or purchase of any books, school furniture or supplies by any superintendent, teacher or school district in this Commonwealth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) or more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or be sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days or more than one year either or both at the discretion of the court.

Any school director, officer, superintendent, supervising principal or teacher who shall ask for or accept money or other valuable thing for his vote recommendation or influence in order to secure the recommendation, adoption, rejection or purchase of any school books, school furniture or other school supplies from any person, firm, association, or corporation or any agent or representative thereof either directly or indirectly shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) or more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to be sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days or more than one year either or both at the discretion of the court.

School Directors.

The school directors in every county in this Commonwealth having a county superintendent of public schools shall annually be called together at the county seat or some other suitable place within said county by the county superintendent. The purpose of such annual conventions shall be the consideration and discussion by the school directors and others of questions and subjects pertaining to the welfare and promotion of the public schools in their respective counties and such other business as may properly come before such conventions.

The county superintendents of public schools shall give all school directors in their respective counties at least two weeks' notice by mail of the time place and hour of the meeting of the association. The county commissioners in every county where such convention is held shall furnish to the school directors of said county free of charge the court house in proper condition or some other suitable place for the purpose of holding such annual convention.

It shall be the duty of school directors in each county in this Commonwealth to attend such annual convention of school directors called by the county superintendent and each school director attending such convention shall receive for his necessary expenses the sum of two dollars ($2.00) per day for each day's attendance and mileage at the rate of three cents per mile for the distance necessary to be traveled in going to and from such convention once each year. Said amount shall be paid by an order drawn on the treasurer of the school district in which he acts as school director. Provided however that no school director shall be paid for more than two days at any annual convention.

When the school directors have assembled in such annual convention they shall elect from among the directors coming from school districts under the supervision of the county superintendent the following officers, to wit: A president, two vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, which officers shall serve until the end of the next annual convention of school directors in said county or until their successors are chosen and each of said officers shall perform such duties as may be assigned to him and as usually devolve upon such official. Every school director attending such convention shall have the right to vote in the election of said officers.

The officers of the School Directors' Association in each county shall also act as an executive committee and as such shall prepare and publish in advance a suitable program and order of business for the next annual convention, securing suitable speakers or lecturers and other means of instructing the school directors present and perform such other duties as may promote the success of the convention.

The School Directors' Association at its annual convention shall elect each year a proper person as auditor who with the two auditors elected by the county teachers' institute shall audit the institute accounts as herein provided.

It shall be the duty of the county superintendents and of the district and assistant county superintendent to attend such annual conventions and they shall be members ex-officio of the executive committee and shall render such assistance and aid to the executive committee of such association as may be required of them. Provided that they shall have no vote in the convention or in approving the selection of county superintendents.

The county treasurer shall pay to the treasurer of such School Directors' Association from the county funds the necessary expenses incurred for the holding of such annual convention including the cost of sending out the notices therefor. The total sum thus paid by the treasurer of any county shall not exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) for each annual convention. Provided, that no payment shall be made to the treasurer of such School Directors' Association until he shall first have presented to the county treasurer an itemized verified statement of all the expenses connected with such convention showing when and where the same was held the number of directors present and the speakers engaged. The treasurer of such directors' association within thirty days after receiving said payment shall file with the county treasurer proper vouches for all such expenses.

Superintendents.

Every person elected or appointed as county district or assistant county or district superintendent must be a person of good moral character. No person shall be eligible for election or appointment as county district or assistant county or district superintendent unless he holds one of the following: A diploma from a college approved by the college and University Council of

HIS GUARDIAN ANGEL

Her Interest In Him Was Manifested to the Last Moment

By Allen G. Lamond

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When I left Rose Seaton to go to South Africa to seek my fortune my heart seemed to be settling right down, down like a doomed ship. We had promised to be true to each other and all that, but somehow my common sense told me that fate was against us. We would be separated by an ocean. I had only the prospect of spending a lifetime in the service of a diamond mining company, where an uncle of mine had secured me an inferior position. Neither Rose nor I had any means or we would not have parted, and, having parted, I saw no prospect of ever getting together again.

I was an accountant for three years, during which I hoped that some day fortune would favor my returning to my sweetheart; then suddenly my dreams were realized. Mr. Oldershaw, the head of one of the departments, sent for me one day and said to me:

"How would you like to make a trip to America?"

I brightened up at once as I replied in the affirmative.

"One of your American millionaires has visited our mines and has purchased one of our largest diamonds. He is on a trip around the world and desires the stone delivered to his wife in New York, where it will be paid for, the responsibility for its safety resting on us until it is turned over. There are reasons why it can't very well be sent by the ordinary method, one of which I will tell you. It has got out that a diamond worth a hundred thousand dollars is to go to New York. This fact has led to so high a charge for its transportation that I am determined to send it by a special messenger. A false stone will be sent by express to mislead those who may try to capture the real one on the way. We have spies right here among us who know everything of importance that goes on. It is our purpose to outwit them. Let it be known that you have determined to resign your position and go home, permitting a month to intervene before your departure. Your expenses will be paid, and if you succeed in making a delivery you will receive a thousand dollars and an agency to attend to our business in New York."

The day I sailed a middle aged woman, well dressed and of ladylike appearance, drove up to the steamer. She looked up as she alighted and saw me leaning over the rail on deck. An expression of satisfaction that I could not account for passed over her face. It surprised me, for I did not remember ever to have seen her before. She came aboard, and I did not see her again till the next day, when we were out on the ocean. I was pacing the deck when I passed her sitting in a steamer chair. She called me to her and said to me:

"Bring a chair and be seated. I have something of importance to say to you."

Astonished, I did as I was bidden. The lady cast glances in every direction and, seeing no one within ear shot, said to me in a low tone:

"I am an American and a friend of Mr. Oldershaw. Learning that I was about to sail for home on this ship, he called on me and told me that a young man, whose photograph he showed me, would be aboard, going on an important mission to New York. Mr. Oldershaw asked me to keep a watch over you and if I saw any suspicious person attempting to gain your confidence or in any way conspiring against you to warn you. There; I have told you what I have to say. You don't need to place any faith in it; all you need do is, if I warn you against any one during the voyage, to beware."

"One question I would ask you," I said. "Why did not Mr. Oldershaw advise me of his request to you?"

"Mr. Oldershaw's plan was for me to keep a watch over you without your knowing it. He did not think it would be necessary for me to make myself known to you. But already I have observed two men talking together, both looking directly at you, and I need to warn you at once. Later I will point them out to you."

"Did Mr. Oldershaw inform you as to the nature of my mission?"

"He did not. That was not necessary."

Her story appeared very plausible, and I confess I felt disposed to trust her, but I did not care to show too much alacrity in doing so, and, rising, bade her good morning, thanking her for her interest in me.

"You are under no obligation to me," she said. "What I do is in repayment of a kindness once done me by Mr. Oldershaw. He has perfect confidence in you, but has strengthened you by giving you an assistant."

That afternoon while taking my usual exercise, walking the deck back and forth, I met the lady.

"Come with me," she said, "and I will show you the men who were talking about you. They have a stateroom next mine, and I overheard one of them say, 'As soon as it is dark I'll try and inviegle him on some pretext to the stern.'"

I went with her to the forward deck, and she pointed to two men standing just above the cutwater looking out at the ocean. One was a burly fellow with a sandy mustache; the other was small, spare and clean shaven.

"That's all," said my companion. "You have seen them and are guarded against them."

The same evening just before dark I went on deck. The man with the sandy mustache was lounging about and, presently coming up to me, asked if I could tell him the day's run for the ship. With this as an opening wedge he entered upon a conversation with me, turning it upon some curious phenomena of the sea. He mentioned the phosphorescent light in the wake of a ship, saying: "It's very pronounced tonight. Just come back with me; I'll show it to you."

I told him that I had often seen what he referred to and, bidding him good evening, went below.

It was very plain to me that the woman's story was true. From this time forward I had perfect confidence in her. She did not ask me the nature of my mission or show any curiosity about it. I argued that if she was desirous of possessing herself of the diamond she would sooner or later lead me to speak of it in the hope that I would tell her where it was. But while she sought my confidence in other ways she never referred to the object of my journey. I told her that I was going home to a sweetheart I had not seen in three years, and the sympathy she gave me was delightful. She seemed to appreciate perfectly the feelings of a young man deeply in love. So interested was she in this that I told her I would bring my fiancee to see her after reaching port, and she was good enough to assure me that she would be delighted to know her.

It was after this refreshing conversation, in order to show some appreciation of her interest in me, that I said to her:

"I feel perfectly safe in saying to you that I am carrying a very valuable stone belonging to the Diamond company to New York and wish to consult you as to a safe place to keep it."

"In that I can't advise you. We women have methods of concealing such things that do not pertain to men. I can't think of any safe place where a man can put such a treasure."

"The only safe place I know is on my person. I have it suspended about my waist day and night."

"My dear boy," she said, "what do you mean by revealing such a secret to me or to any one?"

"I have perfect confidence in you."

"Nevertheless you should not have told me such a secret."

"I shall surely tell no one else. If any one can take it away from me by force in the daytime he's welcome to do so. By night I am locked in my room."

"I beg of you to give your secret to no one else."

The evening before making port my friend while talking to me of some delicacies in the way of eatables she had aboard invited me to come to her stateroom and partake of them. She said there would be no impropriety in my doing so, since she would hook the door wide open. I accepted her invitation. Her stateroom faced on the same aisle as mine, so I had not far to go. She brought out some pate of chickens' livers and other nice things, including some real madeira wine, a rarity outside the island of Madeira. I ate of her dainties and drank freely of the wine.

In the morning I awoke in my own berth with a remembrance of my supper, but with no recollection as to how I got into my own stateroom. I put my hand to my waist, and the pouch I kept slung there was gone.

Everything being quiet and no motion to the ship, I arose and looked out through a porthole. We were docked. Dressing myself, I went ashore. A few of the passengers remained, but my lady friend was not among them, nor were the two men against whom she had warned me.

When I met my Rose after the first transports of our meeting I said to her:

"And now you must hear the reason of my coming and the story connected with my journey. Beginning with my meeting with my lady friend, I told her every incident—every word so far as I could remember the conversations that had passed between me and her. When I reached the part of my story where I had told that I kept the stone about my waist Rose could not repress the exclamation, 'Oh, how stupid!'"

And when I gave an account of the supper and my being drugged my sweetheart was so unkind as to say I had been rightly served. I concluded my story with these words:

"And now, my darling, the diamond having been safely delivered and a check in payment mailed to South Africa, we have $1,000 on which to begin housekeeping and an assured salary"—

"'But the diamond is stolen!'"

"I did not say so. In order to please my guardian angel, as I called her, I told her where I kept a lump of glass. The diamond was in my trunk, fitted with a lock that I alone knew how to open."

Rose jumped for me, throwing her arms around my neck.

"And you suspected her from the first?" she asked when the transports had subsided.

"No, I didn't suspect her at all or I wouldn't have been drugged by her."

"Explain."

"Well, you see, when she sympathized so sweetly with me about you she knocked the underpinning out from beneath me. I yearned to make a return and thought that I couldn't make a better one than by a show of confidence. So I told her about where I kept my treasure, only I omitted to say that it was a false one. I thought that would do as well."

Historic Beauties.

The famous beauties of the world are wise when they leave no portraits of themselves. Take Marguerite of Valois. She was an immoral, dishonorable, criminal, scheming, unscrupulous villainess, but she was dowered with such charm that there was not a jailer or an enemy she could not charm when she tried. No, nor a woman—not even the wives of her lovers. Men came from every country, taking year long journeys, only to see her and went away, after a little glimpse, saying they had "seen loveliness itself." Then one sees her portraits. Too much forehead, not enough eyebrow, a straight nose and expressive mouth (in one picture a lovely mouth)—and that is all. Mary, queen of Scots, was very lovely—three kingdoms battled because of her beauty—and yet her pictures leave one cold. Fouche said her portrait showed every trait of the lowest criminal type. That was before he knew whose picture he criticised.—London Truth.

Lost Meanings.

"Those who care for the beginnings of things may be glad that the quill pen survives to remind us that the original pen was plucked from a bird," observes a writer. "Germans and Frenchmen are in no danger of forgetting that, thanks to their respective words 'feder' and 'plume,' but the English 'pen' suggests a feather only when one chooses to think about it and recall the Latin 'penna.' Almost all our writing materials are no longer what etymologically they profess to be. Paper is no longer made of papyrus; a pencil is not a little tail 'penicillus,' like a camel's hair brush; the 'lead' of a lead pencil is not lead, and the 'india rubber' with which we erase its marks does not and never did come from India. Even of parchment there is probably not a fragment in the country, except, perhaps, in a museum and coming from Pergamum, in Asia."—Chicago News.

Life In the Icy Arctic.

In the morning I was generally the one to waken first and would either start the alcohol lamp myself or call Astrup for that purpose. Our morning meal consisted of a lump of pemmican, six biscuits, two ounces of butter and two cups of tea each. As soon as this was finished everything was repacked on the sledge. I then read the odometer, aneroid and thermometer and, taking the guidon, which had waved and fluttered over the kitchen throughout our hours of rest, from its place, stepped forward and the next march was commenced. After from four to six hours of marching we would halt for half an hour to eat our simple lunch of pemmican and give the dogs a rest and then after four to six hours of traveling halt again and repeat the already described route.—Robert E. Peary, "The Great White Journey."

Got Rid of the Scum.

She was a city bride who had never before taken a hand in housekeeping and knew but little about things in the kitchen. A few mornings ago she got after the milkman.

"What's the matter with your milk?" she said, with great vehemence.

"I don't know," he replied. "What do you find wrong with it?"

"Well," she said, "every morning it is covered with a nasty yellow scum."

"And what do you do with the scum?"

"Why, I skim it off, of course, and throw it in the garbage can."—Farmers' Guide.

Sacrificing the Woman.

That Carlyle could contemplate with equanimity being unpraised, unmoneyed and neglected all his life, that he required neither the world's pudding nor its breath and could be happy without them, was pardonable and perhaps commendable. That he should expect another person to share this unmoneyed, puddingless and rather forlorn condition was scarcely consistent with such lofty principles. Men may sacrifice themselves, if they please, to imagined high duties and ambitions, but they have no right to marry wives and sacrifice them.—Exchange.

How People Die.

It is estimated that the average duration of human life is thirty-three years. A quarter of the people die during the seventh year and half before the seventeenth. Of every 1,000 persons one only reaches 100 years, six in 100 get to 65 and one in 500 to 80. It is further estimated that throughout the world 50,000,000 die annually, 138,000 a day, nearly 6,000 an hour, 90 a minute, or three in every two seconds.

Discretion.

Wife (whose husband, the local mayor, has just been knighted)—Have you heard from the man who offered to trace our pedigree? Husband—Yes; he has found out more than enough. Wife—What did you pay him? Husband—Fifty pounds—to hold his tongue!—London Opinion.

The Desideratum.

"George, what do you have to do when you draw some money out of a bank?" asked an innocent young wife.

"You have to put some money in the bank beforehand," replied the husband. "That's always been my experience!"

A Friendly Tip.

"My husband always is the severest critic of the gowns I wear."

"Well, judging from what I have heard, he has to go some if he is."—Chicago Record-Herald.

If the dam becomes heated the milk is injurious to the colt.

If a colt is worth raising at all he is worth raising well.

Some folks get in the habit of saying, "Whoa!" to their horses when they do not mean it, that these faithful animals can not tell when their masters do really mean to have them stop, so they keep going. When you say, "Whoa!" mean it. That is the only way your horses have of knowing what to do.

Diseases get a fast hold of many a flock of sheep through foul drinking water. Never give stagnant water if you can help it.

A few trees in the pasture add greatly to the comfort of the sheep, these days. If you can't have them, set up a few posts and cover a bit of ground over for a shed.

To dip the flock the first warm weather is good practice, as this spares the lambs. Any one of the carbolic dips is good. This poison destroys the thick and scab parasites by contact on the outside.—Farm Journal.

EASILY DECIDED

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Bellefonte People

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow-citizens, of people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing in far-away places? Read the following:

Mrs. C. Johnson, 365 E. Bishop St., Bellefonte, Pa., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, for they are the best remedy I ever used for backache and other smyptoms of kidney trouble. At one time my back was so lame and painful that I could hardly get around and dizzy spells were common. I was restless at night and my kidney gave me great annoyance, the kidney secretions being unnatural. On the advice of a member of my family who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit, I procured a box at Green's Pharmacy Co, and they did me more good than any other medicine I had previously tried. The kidney secretions became natural and the pain and ameness in my back was removed. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted with kidney complaint." (Statement given Oct. 21, 1907.)

Permanent Relief. On Nov. 23, 1909 Mrs. Johnson was interviewed and she said: "I still have unlimited confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills. They permanently cured me of kidney trouble and trouble and I have had no need of a kidney medicine during the past two years. Other members of my family have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and benefit has always been received.

A FOOLISH BLUNDER.

It is to be regretted that the recent Legislature failed to pass Governor Tener's public utilities bill. It is not to the credit of the Senate that it not only snubbed but insulted Governor Tener in the consideration of his bill and again in absolutely ignoring his efforts to have the subject referred to a commission for intelligent study and amendment in order that a better measure might be introduced in the Legislature of 1913. Unless we very much misjudge Governor Tener, the Senate committed an act for which certain corporations, at present jubilant, will repent before he retires from office.

When he appeared as a candidate before the people of Centre County and other parts of the State, Governor Tener strongly advocated the enactment of a public utilities law, one that would give a commission not only power to recommend but power to enforce its recommendations. In his message to the Legislature Governor Tener emphasized the need along this line and urged that such a law be passed. At his instigation Attorney General Bell drafted such a bill and it was introduced at an early date in the House. That branch of the Legislature carefully considered the measure, decided that it was a proper one and with virtually no opposition passed it. From the House the bill went to the Senate and was referred to committee. There is lingered until the closing days of the Legislature when the Senate curtly ruled that it should not become law because sufficient time had not been allowed for intelligent consideration. To the credit of Senator Joseph Alexander, who represents this district, let it be said that he stood shoulder to shoulder with Governor Tener and voted for the bill.

Realizing that passage of his bill was impossible, Governor Tener had introduced a resolution creating a commission to which the bill should be referred for full consideration during the next two years, as was done two years ago with the school code, and reported back to the next Legislature. In refusing to accept this resolution the Senate confessed that its reason for not passing the utilities bill was not because there had not been ample time for its consideration but because the Senate was opposed to the whole proposition.

To the unwarranted insult by the Senate Governor calmly replied that a similar bill would be introduced into the next Legislature. His admirable poise and dignified bearing in meeting the situation stands out in striking contrast to the insulting methods of the Senate. So pronounced is the contrast that it should serve as a warning to those Senators who assumed the responsibility for stifling a bill that is undoubtedly in the interests of the people rather than the corporations, and for the masses rather than the classes.

New York, Massachussetts and a number of other States have in operation a public service commission law such as Governor Tener recommended but which has temporarily been denied the people of Pennsylvania. In those States, just as proved to be the case in Pennsylvania, the corporations did not want a public service commission to look after the interests of the people. Nevertheless, in the several States in question the people eventually were successful and triumphed over the corporations. What happened in those States will, sooner or later, happen in Pennsylvania. By putting off the matter the Senate has also aggravated conditions and invited what may prove to be a more drastic measure. Those corporations which secretly influenced members of the Senate to kill Governor Tener's bill will have no one but themselves to blame should they awake two years hence to find written on the statute books a law even more stringent. Putting off the day of reckoning is pretty poor policy, especially when it comes to denying to the people their rights. It should not require a very hard pinch in the ribs for the Senate of Pennsylvania to get awake long enough to recall several recent instances of the consequences when the great American public rose upon its hind legs and attended to things to suit itself.

MONEYBAGS REFORM?

During the last few days Mr. Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, erstwhile political manager of William H. Berry and the Keystone party, made a flying visit to Bellefonte for a personal conference with some of the local Keystoners. Ostensibly his mission here was to spur local Keystoners to sufficient activity to place in the field a Keystone ticket for county offices. It is said that all that Mr. Bonniwell received here was the glad hand and the marble heart. Having a more personal and pecuniary interest in the election of county officers, the local Keystoners shied off from Mr. Bonniwell and made it possible for him to conclude his business here and depart on the earliest train for Clearfield.

Mr. Bonniwell has no interest in the election of officials in Centre County. His mission here was solely in the interest of keeping the Keystone movement alive until next year, when he wants Centre County kickers to elect a member of the Legislature who will in advance sign a written pledge to vote for Henry C. Niles, of York, "or some other candidate equally acceptable" for United States Senator in opposition to Senator Penrose. If such a candidate will be produced Mr. Bonniwell promises to tap the moneybags of an unnamed millionaire and finance the said candidate's campaign. And this, of course, in the name of reform.

The motive which prompted Mr. Bonniwell to visit Centre County is the same as that which started him on a gumshoe scouting tour of the State. He is on the still hunt for men to be put up for the Legislature next year. It is immaterial to him, immaterial to the much abused name of reform, tha' such men be honest or capable, or that they be Democrats or Republicans. The only qualification, and this must be made binding in writing, is that the men pledge themselves to vote for Mr. Niles, or an unnamed candidate, for United States Senator. The agreement once made in writing, secured and stored away in his inside pocket, Mr. Bonniwell stands ready to deliver the dollars for "campaign expenses."

Mr. Bonniwell is simply the advance agent of a moneybags movement, launched many months in advance, to defeat United States Senator Boies Penrose when the latter shall seek re-election. While it suited their purposes the Keystone movement was used by Mr. Bonniwell and his coterie of political soldiers of fortune as a scheme to try and defeat the Republican nominee for Governor. That having failed the next move is to plan for the election of members of the Legislature in November, 1912, and if possible capture control of a majority and thus defeat Penrose.

Who is the real owner of the moneybags which Mr. Bonniwell has been authorized to open wherever he may find a candidate for the Legislature ready to be financed in return for a written bill of sale for his vote? What is the name of the millionaire, temporarily under cover, who seems so ready and willing to debauch the State under the guise of reform? We have never heard that Mr. Niles was a millionaire, so that it isn't reasonable to assume that he has any money to be squandered at will by campaign agents.

To all appearances the gentleman of color in the woodpile is the clause, "or some other candidate equally acceptable," in the agreement which must be signed before Mr. Bonniwell will shell out for "campaign expenses." Until candidates for the Legislature are secured and then bound and gagged to turn over their votes for United States Senator Mr. Niles is to be paraded as the choice of the Keystoners, of the holy, righteous cause of reform, if you please. Once the written pledges are locked in Mr. Bonniwell's safe, away up in his office in the Land Title Building, in Philadelphia, Mr. Moneybags, the real candidate against Penrose, will be unblanketed. Having paid the freight Mr. Moneybags will quite naturally want the office. And, of course, it will all be done in the name of reform.

Correspondence.

Scotia.

Miss Margaret Young, of Tyrone, has closed a very successful term of teaching, and is visiting for a few days at the home of her uncle, P. E. Hicks.

Miss Mae Bartley, of Snydertown, an old-time friend of Mrs. Lyman Emerick, is with her for a two weeks outing and is having the time of her life.

On Tuesday evening the Roop family departed for their new home in Wilkinsburg. They are leaving behind many friends who are sorry to see them go. However, what is our loss is their gain.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stouffer, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pennington, Harry Pennington, Miss Esther Pennington and Miss Jackson, of State College, and Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, of Waddle, were Sunday visitors at the Jessie Pennington home.

Daniel Strayer, of Gatesburg, visited his friend, Franklin Gates, on Sunday and on his return in the evening stopped at Frank Fields for supper. Daniel is a sport of the first water and is very fond of music and pretty girls, but you can't blame him for that. Come again, Dan.

Samuel Saxon, the first child born at Scotia, 31 years ago, returned recently to look up some of his friends. It is eleven years since he has been here and during that time he has been living in the western end of the State. He has got into the "swim" all right and now he travels in a brand new Ford automobile. Its a dandy.

On Monday evening Frank Fields and Paul Farber, two wind pushers, took their horns abd started out to demonstrate their ability in that line. Frank went to Altoona to play with a band there and Paul went to Baileyville, where he played with a band. Both are good musicians.

Jessie Pennington has gone into the chicken business for what there is in it. He has nothing but thoroughbreds, mostly white leghorns, but is trying to develop something new in that line. He has had some success in breeding what he calls the black and tan white leghorns. Another sample of the mail order business, Jess?

John Crawford, one of Burnham's expert puddlers, is taking a few days well earned rest during the hot season and is traveling by slow stages, visiting friends as he goes. At present he is at A. C. Markley's home. His destination is Youngstown, Ohio, where he has a son employed in one of the large mills. He reports things very quiet at Burnham these days.

G. C. Lykens, of Bellefonte, visited his mother here on Monday. "Jeff", as he is called here, says that they have good drinking water down at Bellefonte, but that when he gets real dry there is nothing that quenches his thirst like the water from No. 5 well and he just has to come back for it. His many friends here are glad there is something to bring him back.

We all were sorry to hear of the burning of the Huyett & McNitt mills at Waddle on Sunday night and can sympathize with the working men there. We know what it means to stand back and see our employment go up in smoke, but as was the case with us, there are no families thrown out of homes by the fire, for which they should be thankful. It will only be a short time until tney will not be able to tell that they had a fire down there.

On Sunday morning everybody noticed that something unusual happened to Chester Young, for he was stepping pretty high; in fact, he was only touching the high places. On making inquiry we found that the stork had left him a boy on Saturday night. Now Chester is a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat and it is a toss-up whether he calls him Woodrow Wilson, Billy Bryan or Champ Clark. We would advise him to start right and call the boy William Taft.

Some of the boys went fishing one night last week. When they came back in the morning with a nice lot of fish they tried to make William Lykens believe they got them in the Bald Eagle. William would not have it that way, for he said that he had fished there so much that he knew all the fish so well he could tell them by their first names and furthermore that he couldn't recognize a single, solitary one in the bunch. They'll have to spring something new on Billie—something better than Bald Eagle fish.

Milesburg.

Miss Grace Kline left on Tuesday for Niles, Ohio, where she attended the funeral of her grandfather, William Comer.

Misses Agnes Swartz and Ophelia Haupt, students at the Lock Haven Normal School, were visitors at home over Sunday.

The baseball game between Milesburg and Snow Shoe was well played by both teams, Snow Shoe winning, 10—8. A good crowd was out and all were well pleased.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Milesburg Methodist Episcopal church will hold a social on the church lawn on June 10. Ice cream, cake and candy will be served. All invited.

Smullton.

Harry Zeigler and wife spent Sunday with Mrs. Zeigler's parents.

Sunday, last, was the warmest day experienced here this spring.

The farmers here are through planting corn. They report that it is now too late for additional planting.

Maggie Harry came home from State College to see her sister, Annie, who has been very ill for some time past.

Every Friday and Saturday evening W. F. Bierly's ice cream wagon passes through our town. It is quite an attraction and these warm days proves to be a welcome visitor.

Quite a few of our soldiers attended the memorial service held at Millhim on Sunday. Services were held and graves decorated at Rebersburg at 6 o'clock in the evening of Decoration day.

Married in Bellefonte.

Rev. C. W. Winey, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiated at a pretty informal wedding at the church parsonage on Monday morning, last. The contracting parties were John Isaac Way, of near Stormstown, and Miss Anna M. Grassmire, of Bellefonte. The groom is a man of industry and energy and well qualified to become the head of the home. His bride is well and favorably known here and is well fitted for her new duties in life. The friends of the newly married couple extend best wishes and congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Way departed on a wedding tour to Altoona and other points.

William Knarr has received notice to report at the office of the chief operator of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's telephone in Williamsport, which means that he will probably be made assistant. Mr. Knarr was for some years local lineman for the Commercial Union and was later a lineman with the telephone construction crew on the Tyrone division when the phone system was installed.

The members of the Grand Army and others who heard the Memorial sermon by Rev. R. S. Taylor in the Methodist church Sunday morning, regard it as one of the most appropriate and far-reaching in its scope than has been delivered to the Post for many years. Comment was heard from many persons and the "old boys" were highly enthused over Rev. Taylor's able discourse. The Post was accompanied to services by the P. O. S. of A., the P. O. of A. and I. O. O. F. Only ten of the veterans were in line, viz: H. C., M. P. and J. B. Holter, (three brothers) James Wyble, J. R. Pheasant, W. J. Wilson, Henry Pletcher, W. H. Neff, James Tyson, John Knarr.

Memorial Day was more generally observed here this year than for some years past and the number of men in line was larger than on any previous Memorial Day. In addition to Grove Brothers Post the ranks were swelled by the Howard band, the P. O. S. of A. and the I. O. O. F. and by large visiting delegations of the P. O. S. of A. and Red Men from Beech Creek and Eagleville. The latter orders brought with them the Beech Creek Drum Corps, whose patriotic airs added inspiration to the occasion and was greatly appreciated by our citizens. The veterans of the G. A. R. were conveyed throughout the line of parade in automobiles which were courteously furnished by J. Will Mayes, Dr. Kurtz and Joseph Diehl. Following the ritualistic memorial service by the Post the graves of the heroic dead were decorated by committees from the P. O. S. of A. and I. O. O. F., thus relieving the veterans of rendering this solemn tribute in the intense heat of the afternoon sun. The assembly then went to the Methodist church where a select choir sang appropriate songs and Rev. W. H. Patterson, of Blanchard, delivered an inspiring and patriotic address. The same veterans were out on Tuesday as on Sunday, with the exception of Mr. Tyson, and the addition of David Tanyer. Just before the parade the veterans were lined up on the school ground and photographed by Walter Holter.

Miss Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clinger last Thursday underwent a serious surgical operation. At this writing she is improving nicely and her many friends confidently hope and expect that she will be spared for many years of happiness and health.

The Memorial service held in Bethel church on Sunday was well attended. The church was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting and the pulpit was embanked with flowers and potted plants. Rev. S. C. Stover, in his usually favorable manner, held his hearers spellbound aiong the lines of patriotism and citizenship.

Memorial day was observed in the various cemeteries. Meek's cemetery was visited and the graves decorated at 10 o'clock by members of the G. A. R.; Pine Grove at 2 P. M. The Odd Fellows and Junior Mechanics turned out in full dress and with a large representation of Sunday school folk the parade was quite inspiring. It was headed by the home drum corps. Excellent music was furnished by a quartette of male voices, with Miss Mary Wright presiding at the organ. Rev. I. C. Sasserman, of State College, was the orator of the day and for forty minutes had the undivided attention of the large audience present. Only a corporal's guard of G. A. R. boys were in line. Henry McCracken, on account of his lame hip, made the rounds in a buggy, but was in a cheerful mood. Pine Hall was the next objective place and a large concourse of people gathered for the services, at 6 o'clock in the evening. The Sunday school scholars assisted in strewing flowers upon the mounds of comrades gone before. A splendid choir, with Miss Maude Dreibelbis at the organ, and W. K. Corl with a cornet, rendered some fine music. Dr. Thomas F. Hunt, of State College, was the orator of the day. His address was a treat to all present. The services were concluded by singing "America."

John P. Brugger, of Johnstown, spent Sunday with his mother at this place. Mr. Brugger is agent for the Heinz 57 varieties and has the honor of selling more baked beans than any other man in the world. The H. J. Heinz Co., of Pittsburg, have 500 salesmen, 400 in this country and 100 in Europe. Of the entire number, Mr. Brugger heads the list for selling baked beans.

Memorial Day exercises here on Tuesday were the best seen in recent years. The Grand Army was assisted by the I. O. O. F. and Y. M. E. A. They formed in line of march in the diamond at 10 o'clock and proceeded to the lower cemetery. At 2 o'clock they marched to the upper cemetery. Graves were decorated and brief addresses made by J. Kennedy Johnston, of Bellefonte. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon they reassembled at the cemetery in town, where Lawyer Johnston delivered a very eloquent address on behalf of the "Boys in Blue." The services were concluded at 7.30 o'clock in the evening at the Methodist Episcopal church. The Grand Army held fine services, there were splendid recitations by Misses Hannah Holt, Cora Hoover, Mary Lansberry and others, after which Rev. R. S. Oyler spoke to the old veterans. Dr. E. A. Russell moved that a vote of thanks be tendered the I. O. O. F. and the Y. M. E. A. for their fine turnout, which was heartily adopted. The drum corps and choir also were warmly praised for their part in the day's exercises. More interest was displayed by all present on this occasion than has been the case here for years. Soon the "Boys in Blue" will all have passed away and it is the duty of each and every one of us to aid in keeping their graves ever fresh and green.

Mrs. Harvey Hoover died on Friday, last, at 11 o'clock, from acute indigestion. She had been in ill health about six months and on Thursday she attended the funeral of the late Morris R. Lucas, coming here after the funeral to attend to some shopping. On returning home she became ill about 3 o'clock Friday morning and passed away eight hours later. Deceased was born November 3, 1835, making her age 75 years, 6 months and 24 days. She was the daughter of Richard Catlon, who came from England about 1815. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were united in marriage on April 27, 1858, and to this union nine children were born, all of whom survive. A very remarkable feature is that in 53 years of married life this is the first death in the family. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover moved to their present home in Union township in the fall of 1863 and have lived there ever since, excepting 4 years, 1891 to 1895, when they resided in the old Union hotel, at this place. Mrs. Hoover was a kind and loving wife and mother and will be greatly missed by the entire community. She is survived by a husband and the following children: Mrs. J. E. Dailey, of DuBois; Grant, of Williamsport; Mrs. H. B. Esterline, of Cleveland, Ohio; J. Clyde, of Johnstown; George P., of Altoona, and C., Sherman, Martha H., and Mary E., at home. A brother and sister also survive: David Catlon, of Iowa, and Mrs. Sarah Teats, of Punxsutawney. All of the children were present at the funeral, with the exception of Mrs. Esterline, who was detained at home by illness in the family. Funeral services were held from the late home of the deceased on Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R. S. Oyler, of the Methodist Episcopal church, at Milesburg. Interment was made in the upper cemetery.

Mrs. George W. Morrison died at her home here on Monday afternoon, last, from a paralytic stroke, the second attack in the last few months. She had so far recovered from the first stroke as to enable her to be up and about the house and yard and hopes were entertained that she might be spared for many years longer. On Monday afternoon, however, while apparently in better health than usual, she was in the yard at her home when she was seized with a second stroke. Loving hands at once removed her into the house but the death Angel had come before she could regain consciousness and she passed away within three hours. Mrs. Morrison was born in Blair County, November 21, 1851, making her age 60 years, 6 months and 8 days. She was a devout Christian woman, identifying herself with the Methodist Episcopal church here a number of years ago and continuing active in the cause of the Lord down to the time of her death. She was a generous, kind-hearted neighbor, a loving wife and mother and her sad and sudden death comes as a shock to all. With her husband she has lived among us for about 40 years. On April 1st they removed to the late Christian Buck property, where they had a nice home and every comfort desired in their old age. Surviving are a husband and the following children: William A., George D., Mrs. Charles Stover, Mrs. Thomas McClellan and Chesney, of Altoona, and Edward C., of this place. The following sisters also survive: Mrs. Harry Sprankle, of Tyrone; Mrs. Daniel Lebkecher, of Snow Shoe, and Mrs. Ella Flick, of Julian. Funeral services were held today (Thursday) from the Methodist Episcopal church, conducted by Rev. R. S. Oyler, of Milesburg. Interment was made in the upper cemetery.

SPRING LOVE

Not In Heroics, but as It Really Occurred

By F. A. Mitchel

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When the poet said that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to love he should have added that in the spring a girl becomes frivolous.

The Buddingtons on May 1 moved into one of a block of houses fronting on a small park. Grace Buddington watched from a second story front window the delicate spring leaves come out on the trees under the warm sunshine. Whether her heart budded at the same time is not known, but an incident occurred that burst a blossom of mischief into a full blown flower.

Grace had caught a glimpse of a young man who lived next door. He was nineteen or twenty, while she was seventeen and a half, being very particular that the half should be put on when her age was mentioned. The fact of this gentleman, who was very good looking, who wore buff gaiters over his boots, whose clothes were cut by the correctest pattern and whose white cuffs always protruded exactly two inches below his sleeves—I say, the fact of his being a next door neighbor excited a profound interest in the young lady's heart. They were to live, no one knew how long, side by side. They might become bosom friends, possibly like brother and sister, possibly lovers. This "may be" is decidedly pleasanter to contemplate than "might have been." The first is the bud, the last the decaying flower. Oh, blessed age when there are no sad memories!

Nevertheless youth is peculiar. One would suppose that, harboring such rainbow fancies, Miss Buddington would act in a way calculated to bring them about; that she would look forward to a conventional meeting with her neighbor which would grow into friendliness and from friendliness expand in some one of the channels that had been dug for it by her imagination. She did the very opposite.

While she was watching the nurses in the park halting their baby carriages for a brief bit of chat, the fountain sparkle in the sun, while she listened to the chirp of birds and a distant confused noise of many vehicles on a street beyond, the door of the next house opened, and the young gentleman of whom she was dreaming came out on the stoop. His boots, a stickpin in his neckwear and his silk hat all glistened in the sun. He stood swinging his cane in his hand, looking out on the pleasant scene before him evidently very well satisfied with himself. Then, noticing that not quite enough of his cuffs showed below his sleeves, he adjusted first one and then the other. But in doing so he noticed a spot on his right cuff and, taking out a snowy cambric handkerchief, endeavored to obliterate it.

During all this time Miss Buddington was watching him from the window some dozen feet above him and two or three feet to one side. While he was endeavoring to remove the spot from his cuff she disappeared for a few moments and when she returned held in her hand a pitcher of water. Extending her arm, she held the pitcher directly over the reflected streak of sunlight crossing the top of his silk hat.

But she refrained. Whether this was on account of pangs of conscience or a desire to enjoy the situation by prolonging the climax or from a dread of making an enemy instead of a friend of her immaculate neighbor there is no record. The sensation was certainly delicious. But the most delicately flavored wine must be swallowed at last, and presently, tipping the pitcher, she poured a stream down on her unsuspecting neighbor.

When Mr. Tippler—that was the young man's name, T. Pemberton Tippler—felt the water resounding as on a drumhead upon the top of his hat and splattering fountain-like all over him his first impulse was to stand from under, the second to look up to see whence it came. He was too late to see more than the pitcher and a shapely wrist disappearing within the window. But he had before seen the young lady who had recently come to live next door and was especially got up with a view to disporting himself that she might see and admire him. Love scorned turns to hate. Mr. Tippler having come out to be admired and having been treated, as he considered it, contemptuously, he was quite sure, by the girl next door, he swore a great oath of revenge.

A few days later Mr. Tippler while walking home saw Miss Buddington coming from the other direction. He involuntarily quickened his pace, then suddenly slowed up. He looked to the right and to the left and up at the sky. The stoops of their respective homes were side by side or, rather, there was but one stoop with a stone division. At first Mr. Tippler wished to meet Miss Buddington at the bottom of the steps that he might show his supreme indifference to her by turning his back upon her. Then he was afraid he would meet her. He took out his handkerchief and blew his nose. He carried a silk umbrella in his hand and while trying to walk with dignity tripped on it. His hat fell in front of him, and he stepped on it. Grace Buddington, who at that moment turned to ascend the steps, giggled.

Mr. Tippler was boiling with rage.

After that whenever Mr. Tippler caught sight of Miss Buddington approaching him he made a strenuous effort to appear unconcerned. The way he did it was first to pull down his cuffs. Next he would adjust his neckwear. After that his handkerchief came out and he blew his nose. Finally when he passed her his face would be as red as a turkey cock.

As for Miss Buddington, when she saw Mr. Tippler coming she would proceed on her way with the utmost composure. On passing the gentleman the only sign of embarrassment she showed was putting her palm to her back hair, but this should not be counted as embarrassment, for all women do that.

Meanwhile the courtship was progressing finely. When Mr. Tippler went into the back yard he would seize the limb of a tree and pull himself up by his arms to show his strength to the girl next door, who, he felt sure, was peeping through the blinds at him. Then he would loll on a wooden bench, taking care to assume a graceful position. All the while he was waiting for an opportunity to show his contempt for the girl for whose benefit he was posing.

Finally came his chance for revenge. One day when he was "showing off" in the back yard, while his back was to the houses, he heard something lightly strike the ground behind him. Turning, he saw a little posy. Looking up at the next door windows, he saw no one.

But he knew.

And where was revenge? He was supremely happy. Why? Not because he might throw back this little token. Instead of doing so he put it in his buttonhole and looked up at half a dozen windows, from one of which he was sure the posy had been tossed. His face wore a smile which he intended for an appreciative and tender one. But intended smiles are always like those people put on to be photographed, stereotyped. Nevertheless it was seen and appreciated by Grace Buddington, who had thrown the posy.

It's the old story of the alternate claw and velvet touch. From time immemorial women have poured water—sometimes hot water—on men's heads and then have wiped out the insult by a posy.

This love affair had passed the excruciating first stage. Having been begun all wrong, its earlier features were distressing to the young man. But as all things are enjoyable from antithesis, he found delight in the very unhappiness that had marked its beginning. The girl, who at that beginning had found pleasure in pouring water upon the adornments which the young man—like certain birds who disport themselves in rare plumage to attract the female—had put on to please her, pursued the even tenor of her way. She was simply doing her share in the love making on feminine principles—principles that are as far hidden from men as undiscovered natural laws. Was her first communication with him a stroke of genius? Did she reason that it was an efficient way of snaring him? Not by those steps which men call reason. She chose her way instinctively.

Having first made the young man suffer and then given him a sop, the young lady proceeded to the next step. Common usage would have suggested an open acquaintance. But Miss Buddington, as has been observed, was not prone to use common methods. Was it because she acted on the principle that stolen fruit is the sweetest or did she consider secrecy and duplicity better suited to her purpose? Only a woman can answer this question, and perhaps no woman could answer except for herself.

Miss Buddington now thought it time that her admirer should do something in the way of courtship, so she waited. The young man had learned the whereabouts of her room and had learned that it was third story back, his own being in a like position in his own home. A window in each room adjoined. He contrived to get a note to his lady love by tying a string to the end of his cane and the note on the end of the string, whipping the missive into her open window. This led to an endless string between the two windows, over which passed bits of nothings, gradually warming up until they became words of love.

One morning Mrs. Buddington, who was nourishing some plants in her back yard, turning from them, happened to look up at the rear of her domicile. Her curiosity was excited by an endless string run on two pulleys, the one fixed to a window sill of the adjoining house, the other to the sill of one of her daughter's windows. The lady kept her own counsel, but the same afternoon, seeing the young man next door come in, she hurried out to the back yard and concealed herself under a tree, where she could keep watch of the endless string. It was not long before it began to move, and with it a folded bit of white paper. A hand detached the paper, and in a few minutes another paper was crawling along the string in the opposite direction.

"Grace," said Mrs. Buddington the next morning at breakfast, "get ready to go to your Aunt Mary's. You will leave on the 2 o'clock train."

"Why, mother! What's that for?"

"Never mind what for. And you'll not come back here next autumn. You will go to boarding school."

But boarding school failed to solve the problem. What there was in a pitcher of cold water poured over Mr. Tippler and his spick and span outfit to cement him to Miss Buddington as mortar will unite two bricks is a mystery. At any rate his love once thus planted grew furiously, and before the first term of school ended he had eloped with his lady love.

His Frankness Won.

The late Senator Dolliver said that in politics it paid to be frank and honest with the people.

"My predecessor in the senate," he said, "was John H. Gear. On one occasion the prohibition spirit was running high, and a public meeting was held, with a well known Quaker as chairman. Gear was invited to the meeting. He accepted the invitation. The old Quaker called him to the platform and said:

"'We learn that thou dost not belong to any temperance society and also that thou dost drink liquor at thy discretion. Is this true?'

"'Every word of it is true,' replied Gear, 'but did you ever hear of my doing anything dishonorable?'

"'Nay, Mr. Gear,' replied the old Quaker chairman—'nay, we have never heard anything else to thy discredit. Thy frankness is more to be commended than thy habits. But thou hast not lied to us, and we will support thee.'

"And they did," said Senator Dolliver, "and elected him too."—Washington Star.

Her Bridge Prize.

A decided coldness between two women who had been friends for many years is the result of a mistake made by the maid of one of them who had had a four table bridge party one afternoon recently. In keeping with the custom, she had provided a prize for each table, to be brought to the card room just before tea was served and placed on the tables which bore the corresponding numbers. It was a "lovely party" in every respect, with never a hitch until the woman at No. 3 opened the parcel which was supposed to contain her trophy of victory over her three competitors, but which really contained a piece of perfumed soap. Unfortunately, the hostess was not in the group when the package was opened, and much had been said before she discovered that the wrong bundle had been brought downstairs.—New York Tribune.

The Seal's Marvelous Instinct.

The instinct of the seal is marvelous. It will leave its young on the ice in the morning and, going down through a hole, remain away all day swimming in search of food. Returning in the evening, it will locate its offspring in the same "patch" among hundreds of thousands of other baby seals notwithstanding that the ice may have wheeled or drifted fifty or sixty miles during the day from wind and tide and notwithstanding that the patch may extend thirty or forty miles from one end to the other. Whether this instinct is of the class that enables the bird without any mark or chart in a forest with millions of trees alike to find its way back with ease and precision to its nest I do not know, but it is one of those wonders in nature before which human knowledge is brought to a full stop.—Sir Edward Morris in Wide World Magazine.

The Jekyll and Hyde Idea.

"I was in Stevenson's company," says Charles Brookfield in "Random Reminiscences," "at the moment that he conceived the germ of the idea of 'Dr Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.' He was inveighing against a man with whom he had done business and with whom he was dissatisfied. The man's name was Samuel Creggan, or something like it. 'He's a man who trades on the Samuel,' Stevenson declared. 'He receives you with Samuel's smile on his face, with the gesture of Samuel he invites you into a chair, with Samuel's eyes cast down in self depreciation he tells you how well satisfied his clients have always been with his dealings, but every now and again you catch a glimpse of the Creggan peeping out like a white ferret. Creggan's the real man; Samuel's only superficial.'"

The Louvre.

The Louvre dates away back to the reign of Dagobert in 628. In 1204 it was a prison and in 1364 was made into a library. The new building was begun by Francis I. in 1528 and enlarged and adorned by successive kings, principally by Louis XIV. But it was Napoleon I. who gave the Louvre its real glory. Turning it into a museum, Napoleon deposited in it the finest collection of paintings, statues and art treasures known in the world. The magnificent buildings of the new Louvre were begun by Napoleon I. and completed by Napoleon III about 1857.

Not an Inviting Ideal.

"My son," said Harker as he pointed to the ivy in front of the cottage, "always be like the vine—climb."

The little boy was thoughtful.

"I don't think I'd like to be like that vine," he responded seriously.

"And why not, Tommy?"

"'Cause if I was I'd be a porch climber."—Chicago News.

Good actions ennoble us, and we are the sons of our own deeds.—Cervantes.

The Man's Mistake.

Out of loyalty to his own sex the manager of the woman's suit department discharged his young woman stenographer and hired a man. The first batch of letters dictated to the man were written to about a hundred old customers, whom he invited to examine privately a lot of exclusive garments before they were placed on sale. The day after the letters were mailed the women flocked into the store, but the fire that burned in their eyes was the fire of the avenger rather than of the bargain hunter. One word which each woman had underlined in her letter explained their wrath. The garments, so the manager had meant to say, had been designed for women of stock figure, such as they possessed, but the male stenographer had drawn on the alphabet and had written it "stocky."

"No woman on earth would have been guilty of such a mistake," growled the manager.

The next week the girl stenographer had her job back.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Great Men Tall and Short.

A recent investigator has attempted to show that Lombroso and his followers were wrong in asserting that men of genius were of small stature. Of 230 individuals of eminence he found that figures were obtainable for 103; of these sixteen were of middle height, fifty-eight above and twenty-nine below.

Americans particularly combined greatness with inches. Jefferson and Jackson were more than six feet tall. Sumner was six feet four inches, and Washington, Lincoln and Beecher were more than six feet. Among famous foreigners Tolstoy was a large man, and so were Thackeray, Bismarck and Darwin.

On the contrary, many of the world's greatest geniuses were undersized and even deformed. Napoleon, Poe, Pope, Alexander the Great, Nelson, Blake and Caesar were small men.

After all is said, genius is no respecter of rules.—New York American.

Doing Chores.

There is no time in the year when there is cessation from toil on a farm. It is different in winter; that is all. The days are shorter, the work rougher. Of course much depends upon the character of the farm. Considerable leisure is possible where few cattle are kept and general trucking done. But always there are the "chores." A remarkably elastic expression that—"doing chores." It may mean much or little. Some dairy farmers, for instance, whose serious business in life is milking cows, may potter around the farm after the morning's milking and, taking the morning's milk to the creamery or railroad station, eat their noon dinners, mend some fence, look over the harness or haul out manure, potter around some more and then say, "Guess it's about time to do the chores," meaning to milk two dozen cows or so—the real hard work of the day.—Philadelphia Press.

Believed Them True Stories.

When Dante published his "Inferno" the simplicity of the age accepted it as a true narrative of his descent into hell.

When the "Utopia" of Sir Thomas Moore was first published it occasioned a pleasant mistake. This political romance represents a perfect but visionary republic in an island supposed to have been newly discovered in America. "As this was the age of discovery," says Granger, "the learned Budaeus and others took it for a genuine history and considered it as highly expedient that missionaries should be sent thither in order to convert so wise a nation to Christianity."

It was a long while after publication that many readers were convinced that Gulliver's travels were fictitious.

Blackbird Days.

Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 are famous at Constantinople, Brescia and along the Danube and the Rhine as the "blackbird days." A curious legend says that originally all species of grackles (blackbirds) were white and that they became black because during one year in the middle ages the three days mentioned above were so cold that all the birds in Europe took refuge in the chimneys. At Brescia the three days are celebrated with a feast called "I giorni della merla," or "the feast of the transformation of the bird."

NEW SCHOOL CODE.

this Commonwealth; a diploma issued by a State Normal School of this Commonwealth; a Teacher's State Certificate issued by this Commonwealth. Provided, that no person shall be elected or appointed a county district or assistant county or district superintendent who has not had successful experience as a teacher within three years or successful experience as a superintendent of schools. Provided further, that serving either as county district or assistant county or district superintendent in this Commonwealth at the time of his election or appointment shall be considered sufficient qualification for any of the aforesaid offices.

County superintendents shall be elected for four years.

Every county superintendent having more than two hundred and not more than four hundred teachers under his supervision shall have an assistant superintendent. Every county superintendent having more than four hundred and not more than six hundred teachers under his supervision shall have two assistant superintendents. Every county superintendent having more than six hundred and not more than eight hundred teachers under his supervision shall have three assistants superintendents and for each additional four hundred teachers or fraction thereof under his supervision a county superintendent shall have an additional assistant superintendent. And the school directors of any county at their convention for electing a county superintendent may authorize the appointment of additional assistant superintendents to those herein provided for.

The superintendent of each county entitled to an assistant superintendent or assistant superintendents shall within fifteen days after receiving his commission nominate to the five officers of the school directors' association of the county the assistant superintendent or superintendent or superintendents who must furnish the president of said association the same evidence of eligibility as is required of candidates for county superintendents. These nominations shall be appointments until the end of the county superintendent's term of office when confirmed by a majority vote of the five officers of the directors' association of said county. The president and secretary of the School Directors' Association shall certify to the Superintendent of Public Instruction the names and post-office addresses of the county superintendents thus appointed and their salaries as fixed by the directors' convention and such assistant county superintendents shall be commissioned by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the same manner and under the same conditions as in the case of county superintendents. Should the county superintendent and the officers of the School Directors' Association of any county fail to nominate and confirm the assistant superintendent or superintendents for such county within thirty days after the county superintendent has received his commission the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall appoint such assistant superintendent or superintendents to serve until the end of the county superintendent's term of office.

Any vacancy occurring in the position of assistant county superintendent shall be filled by the county superintendent and the officers of the School Directors' Association in like manner as at the beginning of a term. In all counties entitled to one or more assistant county superintendents the county superintendents elected in May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (1911) and the officers of the School Director' Associations therein shall before the first day of September one thousand nine hundred and eleven (1911) nominate and confirm the assistant county superintendents to which the several counties in this Commonwealth are entitled. Such assistant county superintendents shall hold office subject to the provision of this Act until the first Monday of June, 1914.

Upon the written charges and recommendation of the county superintendent or of the majority of the members of each of three boards of school directors whose school are under the jurisdiction of the county superintendent assistant county superintendents of any county may after a hearing be removed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the same causes and in like manner as a county superintendent is removed.

The minimum salary of each assistant county superintendent shall be $1200.00 per year, which shall be paid out of the State appropriation for public schools quarterly.

Every assistant county superintendent shall diligently visit the schools assigned him by the county superintendent and shall under his direction supervise and direct the work of the schools.

TEACHERS.

The board of school directors in every school district shall employ the necessary qualified teachers to keep the public schools open in their respective districts in compliance with the provisions of this Act.

Every teacher employed to teach in the public schools must be a person of good moral character and must be at least eighteen years of age.

The board of school directors in every school district may employ such special teachers qualified as herein provided as they may deem necessary for any of the public schools or departments thereof in the district.

Teachers of merit and experience who hold state certificates which exempt their holders from further examination may be elected for any length of time not exceeding three years.

All contracts with teachers shall be in duplicate and shall be executed on behalf of the board of school directors by the president and secretary and signed by the teacher.

All teachers' certificates now in force shall continue in force until they expire by virtue of their own limitations.

Before entering upon the work of teaching every holder of a permanent, special or State certificate of any kind shall present the same to the proper superintendent for registration.

When a board of school directors is compelled to close the school or schools on account of contagious disease the destruction or damage of the school building by fire or other cause unless otherwise provided in their contracts of employment the school district shall be liable for the salaries of the teachers of said school or schools for the term for which they were engaged.

No teacher shall be employed in this Commonwealth by any board of school directors who is related to any member of the board as father, mother, brother, sister, husband, wife, son, daughter, step-son, step-daughter, grand-child, nephew, niece, first-cousin, sister-in-law, brother-in-law, uncle or sunt unless such teacher receives the affirmative votes of three fourths of all the members of the board.

Any principal or teacher who unless released by the board of school directors refuses or neglects to teach through the term for which he was engaged except when prevented by personal illness shall be disqualified from teaching in any public school in this Commonwealth during the term of said contract.

SALARIES OF TEACHERS.

The minimum salary of every teacher holding a professional or a State certificate who has taught successfully for two years and presents a certificate to that effect from the proper superintendent shall be fifty dollars ($50.00) per school month. The minimum salary of every other teacher in the public schools of this Commonwealth shall be forty dollars ($40.00) per school month.

The minimum salaries of teachers as hereinbefore fixed shall be increased from fifty (50) to fifty-five (55) and from forty (40) to forty-five (45) dollars per month. Provided the General Assembly increases the appropriation for public schools to provide necessary funds for such increase in minimum salaries under the provisions of this act.

The provisions of this Act fixing the minimum salaries of teachers shall not apply to any teacher engaged only in teaching a night school or to one who is engaged for only a part of the school day or school month.

The increase in all salaries made necessary by the minimum salaries herein fixed over the salaries paid in each school district in this Commonwealth in the school year beginning on the first Monday of June, 1906, shall be paid out of the State appropriation for public schools.

SUPERVISING PRINCIPALS.

The board of school directors of any school district of the fourth class which has no district superintendent may employ for a term not exceeding three years a supervising principal of a part or all of the public schools of said school district. Every supervising principal shall have the same qualifications as are herein required for a superintendent of schools.

Two or more school districts may join in the employment of a supervising principal or of a supervisor or teacher of drawing, music or other special subject for part or all of the schools of such districts, such supervising principal supervisor or special teacher to be employed his compensation paid and his duties prescribed by the several districts employing him.

Every teacher in the public schools of this Commonwealth must hold a provisional professional or state certificate which shall set forth the branches which its holder is entitled to teach and which shall be issued as herein provided, but no teacher shall teach in any public school in this Commonwealth any branch which he has not been properly certificated to teach.

ATTENDANCE.

Compulsory attendance is required of children between the ages of eight and sixteen years. Boards of school directors in fourth class districts may, before the opening of the school term, reduce the period of compulsory attendance to not less than seventy percentum of the school term in such district, in which case boards must at the same time fix the period for the compulsory attendance to begin. Attendance is not compulsory where a child lives more than two miles from the nearest school, unless free transportation is furnished to and from school.

Board of directors may out of school funds provide free transportation to and from school for any pupil. In fourth class districts boards of directors, where the attendance is small, may consolidate any one or more schools and assign pupils to other schools. Provided that in any district of the fourth class pupils who belong to any such closed school and reside one and a half miles or more from the school to which they are assigned shall be furnished proper transportation at the expense of the district to and from the school to which they are assigned.

If any such pupils are assigned to an adjoining district the district where such pupils reside shall promptly pay to the district in which they attend school the cost of tuition text-books and school supplies only which shall not exceed that of the tuition text-books and school supplies of other pupils pursuing similar courses or studies in the same schools. Provided that the consent of the board of school directors of the district to which the pupils of any closed school are sent shall be first obtained.

Where by the terms of this Act any distance is specified between the residence of any pupil and any public school to be attended by him or any transportation is provided for within or beyond any particular distance in computing such distance no allowance shall be made for the distance that the dwelling house of the pupil is situated off the public highway. All such distances shall be computed by the nearest public highway. Provided that the free transportation of pupils as required or authorized by this act may be furnished by using electric railways, school conveyances or other public transportation when the total distance which any pupil must travel between his residence and the school in addition to such transportation does not exceed one and one-half miles and when stations or other proper shelters are provided for the use of such pupils where needed.

The board of school directors of any school district may permit any non-resident pupil to attend the public schools in its district upon such terms as it may determine subject to the provisions of this Act. Every teacher in the public schools shall have the right to exercise the same authority as to conduct and behavior over the pupils attending his school during the time they are in attendance including the time required in going to and from their homes as the parents guardians or persone in parental relation to such pupils may exercise over them. Every principal or teacher in charge of a public school may temporarily suspend any pupil on account of disobedience or misconduct and any principal or teacher suspending any pupil shall promptly notify the district superintendent, supervising principal or secretary of the board of school directors and the board may after a proper hearing, suspend such child for such time as it may determine or may permanently expel him. Provided that such hearing suspension or expulsion may be delegated to a duly authorized committee of the board.

It shall be unlawful to make any distinction between pupils because of race or color.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

In every school district of the fourth class the State Department of Health shall provide in such manner as it may determine medical inspection for all the pupils in the public schools by proper medical inspectors to be appointed by the State Commissioner of Health at the expense of said Department. All such medical inspectors shall be legally qualified physicians who have had not less than two years experience in the practice of their profession. Such medical inspection shall be made in the presence of the parent or guardian of the pupil when so requested by parent or guardian. Provided that if the board of school directors of any school district of the fourth class shall decide by a majority vote of the members thereof not to have medical inspection of the pupils in a part or all of the schools of such district and the Commissioner of Health is officially notified thereof in writing before the first day of July such medical inspection shall not be made in such school year.

If in any school district which is required by this act to provide medical inspection for its public schools such medical inspection as is herein required is not furnished within thirty days after the beginning of the school year the Commissioner of Health shall after two weeks's written notice to the board of school directors of such district appoint a properly qualified medical inspector or inspectors for the district for the remainder of the school year and shall fix the compensation for the same which shall be paid by the district.

INSTITUTES.

District teachers' institutes may be held throughout the school year for not less than five days or ten half-days which the district superintendent may select for this purpose.

All boards of school directors in this Commonwealth are authorized and required to pay from the district funds to the teachers employed in the public schools of their several districts in addition to the compensation provided for in their contracts three dollars per day for each day's actual attendance upon the sessions of the annual teachers' institute.

Payment for said institute attendance shall be based on the official reports made to the several boards of school directors by the proper county or district superintendent who shall report the daily attendance of teachers to the respective boards by which they are employed and such payment shall be allowed by the boards of school directors and paid to the teachers entitled to receive the same. The time in attendance at the annual teachers' institute shall not be considered as days taught or lessen the actual number of days in the minimum school term.

Every teacher absenting himself from the annual teachers' institute shall forfeit to the school district employing him a sum equal to that which he would have received for attendance at such institute, this sum to be deducted from his salary for the month next following the date of convening said institute unless satisfactory reason for such absence be given to the superintendent holding such institute.

Wondrous Tact.

As an example of graciousness and tact Matthew White tells in Munsey's Magazine of a London clergyman who was called on to address an audience of actors. Alluding to the better social status of the players, the clergyman said that in former days it was sometimes customary to brand them as vagabonds and bore a hole in their ears with an awl, that the citizens might thus be forewarned. "And who knows," the clergyman added, "but that it is a survival of an endeavor to hide this mark of indignity that causes some of the actors even today to wear their hair long?"

All My Pimples Gone.

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed by a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25 cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

Your Neighbor's Experience.

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Geo. N. Barnhart, 919 8th Ave., Altoona, Pa., says: "During the last several years I suffered from backache and kidney trouble. The pains across my kidneys and hips were severe and upon arising I felt tired and worn out. The kidney action was irregular and caused much pain. I got Foley Kidney Pills and took them. Three bottles cured me completely and I am now as well as ever. My kidney action is normal and regular and I owe my recovery entirely to the use of Foley Kidney Pills, which I recommend strongly on every occasion." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a word of good." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

Mrs. Anna Derstine, of Curtin, visited with Bellefonte friends on Tuesday.

Mrs. Howard Simcox, of Kane, this week visited with Bellefonte friends.

Mrs. Paul D. Sheffer entertained at cards yesterday at her home, in Spring Street.

John Huss and wife, of Spring Mills, were visitors to Bellefonte on Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parks, of Renovo, were visitors in Bellefonte over Memorial day.

Miss Emma Waite was a Tyrone visitor this week, spending Memorial day with friends at that place.

A. M. Reeser, at one time proprietor of the Musser House, at Millheim, has purchased a hotel at Mifflinburg.

Enameled ranges, the kind that never need blacking, at Miller's Hardware Store, Allegheny Street, Bellefonte, Pa

Miss Della Hurley was hostess at a delightful little picnic for a number of friends at Hecla Park on Memorial day.

Mrs. Edward Swiler, of Lock Haven, spent Decoration day in Bellefonte as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Moses Levi.

Miss Winifred Gates last night entertained in honor of Miss Mary Cowdrick, of Niagara Falls, who is visiting with Bellefonte friends.

William Clark and wife, of Tyrone, spent Saturday, last, in Bellefonte, visiting at the home of Mrs. Clark's mother, Mrs. Robert Morrison.

Mrs. Harry Miller, of Juniata, was a Bellefonte visitor, coming here especially to spend Memorial day with her sister, Mrs. Harry Murtorff.

Rev. C. W. Winey announces that there will be communion services in the United Brethren church, on Sunday, next, both morning and evening.

On Saturday evening, last, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Cole, of Lewistown, who spent several days in Bellefonte enroute to Lewistown after their wedding tour.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider spent several days in Philadelphia last week, and while there purchased an electric automobile. Their car will be shipped direct from Detroit to Bellefonte and will arrive here probably next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy on Sunday, last, drove over to Potters Mills to see Edward Allison, who has been ill for some time but who, we are glad to note, is somewhat improved at this time.

Mrs. John Hinman Gibson and little daughter, Margaret, who have been visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cook, for several weeks, departed yesterday for their home, at Rutherford, N. J. On June 17 Mr. and Mrs. Cook sail for an extended trip abroad.

A welcome rain visited this section of the county on Monday afternoon. Through the Nittany valley it rained very hard and a number of fields recently planted were badly washed. At Jacksonville the M. S. Betz farm was washed and several acres of corn destroyed.

Mrs. Caroline Lucas, widow of the late Watson Lucas, and until about one year ago residing near Curtin, died on Tuesday at the home of her son, Howard, at Ridgway. Deceased was aged 80 years. Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon, with interment in the Curtin cemetery.

Miss Lizzie Saylor, bookkeeper at the store of Sim, the Clothier, who recently was seriously ill from hiccoughs, is recuperating at Somerset. The severe strain attending her illness left her in a somewhat nervous condition and the little trip was planned with a view to completely restoring her health.

Francis P. Smith a noted writer and editor, was entertained over Sunday at the home of Dr. J. M. Brockerhoff. The latter was in Pittsburg last week and Mr. Smith accompanied him home, remaining here until Tuesday. Mr. Smith is editor of the "Pittsburg Catholic", which has a wide circulation, especially in the western end of the State.

Old-time friends of Morris Cowdrick, formerly of Bellefonte but now residing at Niagara Falls, were glad to greet him on the streets this week. Although he has been away from Bellefonte for quite a while, Mr. Cowdrick carries his age well, looks just about the same as of old and possesses the same genial ways which made for him so many warm and fast friends when he was a resident here.

A very genial caller at "The Republican" office a few days ago was Dr. T. C. VanTries, whose new lecture, "Matters Matrimonial", has been well received, not only in Bellefonte but in every other town where it has been delivered. Dr. VanTries is not only a good lecturer but he is a good subscriber to "The Republican," being of the kind who always make it a point to pay in advance. That was his mission to this office and the example is one which many others might follow, with some slight satisfaction to themselves and a great deal to us.

The Bellefonte Academy baseball club defeated the Juniata college club, on Hughes field, 14-12, on Friday last. The game was replete with exhibitions of "rattles" by both clubs, although at times some really good baseball was played. The visiting team tried to "ring in" Mittinger, a professional pitcher and heavy batter, but Professor J. R. Hughes put his foot down upon it and refused to have things that way. Finally the Academy loaned one of its best players, Symes, to the Juniata club and the game was begun. In the first inning Symes prevented two runs being scored for the Academy by racing into deep left field and pulling down what would have been a three base hit. In the next inning Symes pounded out a three base hit for Juniata, scoring several runs. Just when it appeared that the Academy was hopelessly behind, Juniata exploded and the visiting team went to pieces, the Academy pounding out four runs. When, after several other exhibitions of going up into the air, the runs were tallied up and it was found that the Academy had 14 and the visitors but 12. The game wasn't finished until 7 o'clock in the evening. On Saturday afternoon the Academy was defeated, 4—1, at Susquehanna.

Orders taken for tents and awnings of all kinds and sizes. Lawn chairs and folding cots in stock. Miller's Hardware Store, Allegheny Street, Bellefonte, Pa.

On Sunday, last, Isaac Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. John Porter Lyon drove Mrs. John VanPelt in their car to Barnesboro, where Mrs. VanPelt makes her home.

The wedding of H. Laird Curtin and Miss Daisy Potter will be solemnized on Wednesday evening, June 7, at 6.30 o'clock and will be witnessed by the families and a few intimate friends.

The Bellefonte Academy reception, to be held tomorrow evening, from eight to ten, will be followed by the annual dance in the Arcade Hall. All friends and patrons of the school are invited.

G. W. Breon and wife, of Philadelphia, departed on Saturday, last, for Denver, Colorado, where they will make their future home. Mr. Breon is employed by the Prudential Insurance Company.

Lawyer Clement Dale delivered two addresses at Milesburg on Memorial day. His brother, Lawyer A. A. Dale was the Memorial day orator at Clearfield. Captain H. S. Taylor delivered an address at Centre Hall.

Beginning with Sunday, next, and continuing during the summer months, the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday school will be held at 9.30 A. M., instead of at 2.30 P. M. There will be preaching both morning and evening.

There will be a very exciting game of baseball tomorrow afternoon, on Hughes field, at 3.15 o'clock, between the Bellefonte Academy and the strong Susquehanna University clubs. This will be the last game of the season and should be witnessed by a large crowd. The two clubs are evenly matched and a close game is looked for.

Rev. H. N. Hepler announces a series of revival meetings to be held in Hunter's Park, commencing Wednesday evening, June 7. The use of the grandstand has been secured and it will be thoroughly lighted and seated to accommodate all who attend. "We are thoroughly Methodistic" writes Mr. Hepler, "and plainly teach the two works of grace—salvation and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord."

Rev. Dr. A. M. Schmidt on Thursday of last week returned from Canton, Ohio, where he attended the General Synod of the Reformed church. Dr. Schmidt was elected one of the delegates to represent the Reformed church at the "Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian churches," which meets at Aberdeen, Scotland, June, 1913. He also was a member of a committee to prepare a new hymnal for the Reformed church in the United States.

It will be good news to the Bellefonte friends of Ensign Trood Bidwell to learn that he is rapidly recovering from his attack of typhoid fever and several days ago was able to sit up for two hours. In a letter from Portsmouth, Virginia, where he is in a hospital, Trood informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bidwell, that he was getting along all right and that he expected to be home the latter part of June on a one month furlough.

Recorder William H. Brown was a business visitor yesterday to Lock Haven and Renovo and probably will visit Philipsburg and Clearfield before returning home. Like pretty nearly everybody else in and about town, he is interested in the big Moose picnic to be held at Hecla Park, on the Fourth of July, and his mission to Lock Haven and a number of other towns is to interest delegations to attend and help make the first annual outing a red letter day in Moosedom.

There will be lots of happiness in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller on or about June 17, which is the date set for the return of little Paul Miller, who is attending a school for deaf and dumb children near Philadelpnia. Paul has proved to be a model scholar and his aptness and industry gives his devoted parents much encouragement in the hope that some day he will come home, able to hear and talk. This is also the hope of all who have seen the happy face of the bright little boy.

Those who generousiy contributed flowers to Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., on Memorial day, included James Carson, Amos Garbrick, Malcolm Young, C. A. Dale, Helen Markley, Mary Garbrick, Ottlie Hughes, Mrs. S. T. Shugart, Mrs. Harry Crust, Lila Ayers, Catherine Chandler, D. C. Walters, Mrs. Hazel, Joseph Herman, Richard Herman, Gilbert Morgan, Virgie Dugan, Adeline Boyer, Mrs. G. R. Spigelmyer, L. Ryan, C. Ryan, Samuel Decker, Frank Blair, William Stauffer Smith, Janette Cook, Clarence Turner, Hugh Brown, Mrs. S. A. Young.

"Old Age Deferred" is the title of a splendid book which Rev. P. E. Paul, pastor of the A. M. E. Church, of Bellefonte, is offering for sale. The book is by Dr. Lorand, the noted German physician whose name is familiar to those who have knowledge of the famous Carlsbad baths. The F. A. Davis Co., of Philadelphia, medical publishers, have placed the book on the market and Mr. Paul has taken the agency in Bellefonte to aid him in raising a little money for his church and also his family. The price is but $2.50 and all who purchase the book will find the cost paid a splendid investment.

Quite a number of residents of Howard and Howard township attended a hearing before Judge Orvis, on Friday of last week, the case being one of the poor overseers of the township against the poor overseer of the borough to have the borough remove from the township and maintain J. K. Boney and family. For the borough it was contended that the Boney family were legal residents of the township and that the expense of maintaining them properly belonged to the township. The contention of the township overseers was that the Boney family had lived for 18 months in Howard borough and had, therefore, established a legal residence there. Judge Orvis reserved his decision.

Miss Celia Haupt and Miss Blanche Houser spent Sunday with the former's sister, Mrs. Roy Fox, at Lock Haven.

The Reynolds Avenue baseball club played a double-header on Decoration day. The first game resulted Avenues, 6; Half-moon Hill, 6. Second game, Avenues, 7; Roopsburg, 5. The boys put up a good game, both at the bat and in the field.

W. H. Bartholomew and C. E. Boob were business visitors in Bellefonte yesterday. Mr. Bartholomew is bookkeeper for the Huyett & McNitt firm, whose mills at Waddle were destroyed by fire on Sunday night. Mr. Boob is head sawyer for the firm and is regarded as an expert in his line. Both are very genial gentlemen.

In keeping with a custom very dear to his heart, Michael Kelly, an old-time Bellefonte boy, now living at Juniata, was in town on Memorial day and placed a boquet of flowers on his mother's grave. Michael could not make his plans suit to arrive here a day or two in advance, but he did not fail to appear and the little grave which he regards as his sacred charge was not neglected. Before returning home later in the day Michael put on a uniform of the Logans and marched with the boys. And he marched with all the pride of a veteran, for that is what he is, having served for 27 years with the Logans.

Mrs. Andrew Walizer Dead.

Mrs. Nancy Jane Walizer, widow of the late Andrew J. Walizer, of Howard, died at the home of her son Charles in that place on Monday the 29th, following a brief illness with pleuro-pneumonia. She had been in failing health for the past year or more. Deceased was a daughter of John and Sarah Wooden and was born at Blairsville, Indiana County, June 14, 1847, being aged 63 years, 11 months and 15 days. Her marriage to Andrew Walizer took place on January 11, 1864, while he was home from the army on a furlough. From the close of the war until 1882 they resided at Cedar Springs and since that time she has been a resident of Howard. During her residence at Cedar Springs she was a member of the Lutheran church but after coming to Howard she united with the Evangelical church.

Surviving her are the following children: Samuel and Charles A., of Howard; Eber J., of Houtzdale; Mas. I. K. James, of Ireland, W. Va.; J. Emery, Jersey City; Mrs. Orlando Smith, Altoona, and Mrs. D. M. Noll of Turtle Creek, Pa. One brother, Wm Wooden, of Berwick, also survives.

The funeral took place at two o'clock Wedesday afternoon from the home of her son, Rev. M. J. Snyder conducting the services. Burial was made in the Howard cemetery.

Died at Howard.

Mrs. Martha Jane White, widow of the late John White, died on Friday last at her late home, at Howard, aged 78 years. Death was caused by dropsy, from which she had been suffering for some time past. She had been in failing health for about one month prior to her death, her advanced years giving those about her little hope of her recovery. Mrs. White was a member of the Evangelical church and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends. He husband preceded her to the grave, passing away at Howard nine years ago. A daughter, Emma S., who was the wife of A. G. Confer, died several years ago. Surviving are two sons, Joseph B. and Charles W. White, of Beech Creek, and also two sisters, Mrs. Mary Swartz, of Beech Creek, and Mrs. Ellen Pletcher, of Johnsonburg. Funeral services were held on Monday, at 10.30 o'clock, with interment at Howard.

Death at Jacksonville.

Enos Ertley, for many years a resident of Jacksonville, died at his late home at that place on Saturday morning, about 8 o'clock, after an illness of about six weeks. He was formerly a resident of Snyder County, but for a long time made his home at Jacksonville, where he followed the occupation of a blacksmith. Deceased was aged about 82 years, was a member of the Reformed church and was twice married. Children of the first wife surviving are George and William Ertley and Mrs. Harry Strunk, of Jacksonville. A daughter of the second wife also survives, Mrs. Bert Tate, of Pitcairn. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, with interment at Jacksonville.

School Announcement.

Bellefonte, Pa., June 1, 1911.

TO THE PUBLIC:—Pupils in all grades of the public schools may receive their promotion certificates and term reports, Monday afternoon, June 5, between two and four o'clock, by calling at their respective buildings. All textbooks not returned will also be taken up at that time.

An examination to enter the grades or the High School will be conducted in the New Building on Tuesday, June 6, beginning at 9.30 in the morning. A thorough knowledge of the common branches is assumed for those who wish to enter the High School, and parents are urged not to seek admission for their pupils if below fourteen years of age, unless they are especially well prepared. The advances made in high school courses during the last few years have been so pronounced that greater maturity of mind is demanded if the work is to be creditably done.

Very respectfully,
JONAS E. WAGNER.
Supervising Principal.

Boone, Iowa, Nov. 5, 1907.

Hon. Sidney A. Foster,
Sec. R. U. M. L. Ins. CO.,
Des Moines, Ia.

My Dear Sir:

I have your favor of November 2nd stating that my policy for $1,000 issued by your company is now full paid and I may take a full paid participating policy for the amount of my original policy, $1,000, and receive in cash the surplus, $428, or take guaranteed cash value, $575, and in addition cash surplus, $428, making a total cash value of $1,003, or I may take a full paid policy for $1650. I have paid in premium $735.-20, leaving me a profit of $267.80.

This is very satisfactory to me, and fully justifies the confidence which I had twenty years ago in the then new Iowa company organized by Iowa men, and it is a pleasure to know that the same men continue to manage its affairs. I hereby elect to take a full participating policy and my cash surplus, believing that the participating policy payable at my death is a good investment and absolutely safe.

Hoping for your continued success, I am,
Yours respectfully,

J.L.S.--A.M. JOHN L. STEVENS.
